BY FRANK GETTY.
(United News Staff Correspondent.)
New Brunswick, N. J., October 28. Bearing mute witness to the brutality of those who murdered and mutilated her beneath the crab apple tree on Phillips farm four years ago, the body of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, who was slain because of her love for her pastor, has been taken from its grave and examined by the authorities who next week will attempt to fasten guilt of the most famous crime of a decade upon Mrs. Francis Stevens Hall, her two brothers and her cousin.

An autopsy indicated that the murdered choir singer's tongue had been cut out, Dr. Otto H. Schultz, who is medical assistant to District Attorney Banton, of New York city, admitted Thursday night. The woman's throat had been cut and the upper lip punctured by a rough edged instrument, shears or a dull knife, he said.

Lying on a slab in the local morgue, to which it had been taken from the unmarked grave in the unkempt Mills family plot, the body bore evidence, according to Dr. Schultz, of the ferocity of the murders.

A bullet had pierced the right temple, another the cheek, a third had entered the forehead and lodged in the brain. From this evidence and from the result of an examination of certain organs which were taken by the medical examiner to New York, Senator Alexander Simpson, the special prosecutor, hopes to strengthen his case against the accused widow of Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall.

Official announcement of the result of the autopsy is being withheld. Meanwhile, the prosecutor plans to

Former Governor Davis
Of Idaho Says Lifting of Protective Tariff Would Ruin America.

Warning that unless a protective tariff is maintained the social, economic and industrial status of America will be shaken to its foundation, was sounded Tuesday night by former Governor David W. Davis, of Idaho, in an address on the tariff question at the second annual convention of the Southern States Republican league, at the Biltmore hotel.

Former Governor Davis presented the picture of Coxie's army crossing the continent to camp on the capitol steps at Washington as the type of thing which would result from a removal of the Fordney-McCumber tariff law now in force.

The Fordney-McCumber law is a scientific adjustment of the tariff and should be allowed to remain in effect unless a better protective tariff can be devised, Mr. Davis declared. Under

munity Chest Plan for Providing Charity Funds

The specter of a fourth failure shadowed the Atlanta Community Chest on the face of reports at Thursday's campaign meeting, when only $262,690 of the $521,000 budget was reported raised.

The only spark of encouragement was seen in a telegram to Bayne Gibson, president of the chest, from Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States, concisely stating his reasons for supporting the chest idea, reasons which it was hoped might persuade a few of the more wealthy citizens to give more liberally.

The total to date has been pledged by 9,593 persons who in the past have been considered the readiest and most liberal givers to causes of urgent and admitted need in Atlanta. The problem of securing the additional $259,000 during the last four days of the campaign, including one Sunday when solicitation is difficult, is now squarely up to Atlanta givers and the faithful group of volunteer workers.

Small Increases.
The total of $402,000 raised by popular subscription last year came from 16,000 persons, or an average subscription of $25.1 from each, including the many small contributions of a dollar or even less from small wage earners in industrial and other enterprises. The average of gifts thus far has been $27.3, an increase of less than 9 per cent in the average gift whereas it will be necessary to secure an average increase of 30 per cent, or more than three times as much, in order to meet this year's budget of $521,000.

Conferences of leaders in the campaign and in the relief and service work were in progress all through the night seeking ways and means of meeting the imminent crisis. The campaigners are redoubting their efforts and still express great hope that Atlanta will measure up to the needs of the situation.

Asked for an expression of his opinion, as a cool-headed business man and as the chief magistrate of the United States, President Coolidge, avoiding any reference to local conditions, of which he is not informed, confined himself to an emphatic endorsement of the Community Chest plan.

"I believe that the Community Chest plan of providing for local benevolence is the best which has been devised," the president wired. "By eliminating much of the cost of collection, it increases the amounts actually available for charitable purposes and makes for a wise and more equitable division of funds in accordance with the needs and opportunities of each."

"The very fact that the American people stand ready at all times to aid a worthy cause tends in itself to increase the number of benevolences

ARRIVAL IN WASHINGTON

(Copyright, 1926, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The first glimpse I got of Washington was in the night. My sister, the Grand Duchess Cyril, had told me of the beauty of this city. I was already immensely impressed by the magnificent station. It looked like a great festive hall. I admired the color of the stone.

At the station we were received by the late ambassador to England, Mr. Kellogg, and his wife, in the name of the president. We were old friends, as we had met at Lord and Lady Astor's English home, Clivedon. Of course, as usual, we had to submit to our tyrants, the photographers, who flashed their light at us with all the sound of battle.

Escorted by a fine troop of cavalry we drove through the crowded streets and were given a warm welcome by the citizens of Washington, although it was a late hour and the day had been cold and raining.

paign of Indiana Senator, Reed Is Told.

St. Louis, October 28.—(AP)—Activities of the Ku Klux Klan in both state and national political affairs covered a wide range, the senate campaign funds committee was told here today by half a dozen members and former members of the hooded order.

High points in the testimony at what Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, announced were the closing sessions of the pre-election investigation into campaigns in eastern states, included:

That high officials of the Klan investigated themselves in election contests from Minnesota and Iowa involving the senate seats of Senator Thomas D. Schall, republican, and former Senator Smith W. Brookhart, republican.

Directed Watson Campaign.
That William Zumburn, general counsel for the Klan, had active direction of the campaign of Senator James E. Watson, republican, Indiana, for re-election in the primaries last May.

That Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan, was deeply interested in Watson's campaign and made a number of visits to Indiana for political conferences with Klan leaders.

That $400 of Indiana Klan money was used to defray expenses of Indiana Klan officials to Washington last December to discuss appointment of Charles Orin as corporation counsel of Indianapolis.

That William F. Zumburn is the legislative agent of the Klan at Washington, looking after such matters as immigration restriction legislation and seating of senators.

Watson's Klan Card.
That Senator Watson in 1924 carried a card of membership in the imperial Klan, the national organization with headquarters at Atlanta, and that this card directed all Klan activities in Indiana, including the issue of leaflets, all documents to be in the hands of Judge Blake by Monday morning.

On Wednesday, November 3, counsel agreed oral arguments will be presented in the following order:

E. J. Denison for the state; Gilbert for the evangelist and his mother; Minnie Kennedy, also charged with conspiracy; Hahn for Mrs. Wiseman; and Keyes closing for the state.

By further stipulation it was agreed to recess until next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Charles Kilmas, Lithuanian,
Finds a Way to Make Marriage Pay.

New York, October 28.—(AP)—Charles Kilmas, indicted by a federal grand jury in Brooklyn today for using the mails to defraud in advertising for wives, is alleged to have married five women in 14 months and to have obtained from them dowries totaling $11,600. He already had a wife and two children living in Lithuania, according to federal officials.

Two women who were victims of Kilmas' alleged wholesale marrying, appeared against him when he was arraigned before a United States commissioner. They were Vera Marconis and Mrs. Anna Pupadokus, a widow with two children, who said Kilmas had received from them $3,000 and $2,000, respectively, as dowries. The former was living with Kilmas in Boston when he was arrested.

Mrs. Pupadokus said Kilmas was living in Jacksonville, Fla., when she corresponded with him in response to a matrimonial advertisement in a Lithuanian newspaper. Kilmas is alleged to have received a dowry of $1,700 from Petronia Bulocute, of Baltimore.

Kilmas' defense was: "I'd blow into a town and right away the women would get me drunk and when I got sober I'd be married."

PLANS FOR HUGE
MILL OUTLINED
AT GAINESVILLENorth Georgia City's Dream of Year Realized
as Plans for Big Cotton Mill Are Disclosed.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN.

Gainesville, Ga., October 28.—First authentic information that the move started here one year ago to bring another huge cotton mill to Gainesville was disclosed here tonight as local citizens sat enthralled and literally spellbound as the plans for the mill were outlined by the treasurer of the firm that will locate here.

At a chamber of commerce banquet Charles A. McCormick, treasurer of the Chicago Manufacturing company, of Chicago Falls, Mass., officially announced the definite plans made by the board of directors of the corporation for the establishment of the first unit of a manufacturing plant in the south.

50,000 Spindles.
The arrangements covering the purchase of 3,400 acres of ground, located four and one-half miles south of Gainesville are practically completed, and it is the intention of the company to erect upon this site a one-story modern cotton mill equipped with 50,000 spindles and 1,200 automatic looms and in addition a village to consist of 400 modern houses for employees, with all the latest sanitary improvements, Mr. McCormick stated.

The initial expenditures will amount to between three and five million dollars and other units will follow. Mr. McCormick further states that the Chicago Falls plant is 100 per cent operation and will continue to operate the same as heretofore and the new enterprise at Gainesville is to take care of the increased business of the corporation. He declared the mill would be a southern built and all-southern operated for every working day and night in each year.

When asked the reason why Gainesville was selected, Mr. McCormick stated that on account of satisfactory labor, climatic, health and water conditions, transportation facilities and the sufficient quantity of electric power available to operate a cotton mill.

It is understood that this industry was located in Gainesville entirely through the energy of the officers of the Chamber of Commerce of Gainesville to whom great credit is due for their untiring energy in working up the plan.

Second Hearing Delayed.
Hearing on habeas corpus proceedings scheduled to be heard Thursday morning before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court seeking to secure release of the suspects, was postponed when called, pending the outcome of the extradition proceedings and the hearing before Governor Walker Wednesday morning.

Attorney Guilbeau contended that it was the assumption that the money was the property of Mitchell until it could be proven otherwise and that his client had no remedy at law in retaining the money unless a receiver was appointed to keep the money until the question was decided.

Hamilton Douglas, representing C. M. Worley and the Unity Trust company of Indianapolis, read affidavits of Detectives L. H. Satterfield and W. D. McGee, who arrested the quartet Monday in a downtown hotel. The affidavits dealt with the arrest of suspects, findings of detectives after questioning them and in their investigation, identifications and other details.

Queen Will Devote Time To

Dakota Farmers.Aboard Queen Marie's Special
Train, Ottawa, Canada, October 28.—
(United News)—Thoroughly fatigued with formality and desirous of seeing American life in its true light, Queen Marie and her royal family each will spend one day next week as ordinary individuals.

This announcement was not unexpected. Since the royal train left New York, Queen Marie, as well as Princess Ilena and Prince Nicholas, have voiced their dislike for the conventional round of functions they have undergone. Sunday Nicholas, as a private citizen, will visit the industrial section of Minneapolis and satisfy his desire to study American machinery. Ilena will spend the day, also, as a private individual in playing tennis with girls her own age and chatting with them on youthful, feminine topics.

Monday the queen will have her day as a private citizen, while the train rolls through North Dakota, she will have numerous conferences with real dirt farmers of that section. These farmers will be invited aboard the train at stops en route or so apart throughout the day and will tell her majesty how American farmers work.

While it is not expected that Mrs. Wilson will assume any official position in the democratic party, her unofficial influence is considered extensive and she will take an active interest in the work of the democratic women leaders.

During her stay in Europe, Mrs. Wilson acquainted herself thoroughly with political and international conditions abroad and is expected to use this information in her work as an adviser to women democrats. The former first lady of the land has always been averse to taking public office, preferring to work quietly for the party's interests and relying on her unofficial influence, according to officials of the club.

She is now honorary president of the Women's National Democratic club, and from this vantage point will keep in constant touch with party activities.

Suspects Fail To Get Re-

leged Loot.

Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, Thursday afternoon declined to grant a receivership for nearly $12,000 seized with the arrest of four bandit suspects by Atlanta police on charges of robbing the Union Trust company of Indianapolis, Ind.

The order came at the conclusion of a hearing on a petition by Len B. Guilbeau in behalf of one of the quartet, C. E. Mitchell, against Police Chief J. L. Beavers and C. M. Worley, inspector of the Indianapolis police force in charge of detectives, who arrived in Atlanta Wednesday to return the three men and one woman to that city for trial on an indictment charging robbery of the bank.

Suspects held at police headquarters pending hearing on extradition at 9 o'clock Saturday morning before Governor Clifford Walker are, May Scott, alias Ida King; G. E. Scott, alias Gene Price; C. E. Mitchell and E. L. Carter.

Upon filing the petition, Judge Pomeroy signed an order appointing Henderson Hallman temporary receiver pending hearing. An order modifying the original order was then made by Judge Pomeroy, dissolving the temporary receivership and restraining Chief Beavers from turning over the money to the Indianapolis authorities until the petition could be heard at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Daughter of Millionaire
Gets Job Peeling Tomatoes

STARTS TO MAKE HER OWN LIVING

Camden, N. J., October 28.—Peeling tomatoes at 30 cents per hour is the new job of Elinor Dorrance, 18-year-old daughter of Dr. John T. Dorrance, wealthy head of the Campbell Soup company.

Recently returned from Paris, where she spent a year studying at the Sorbonne university, Miss Dorrance decided it was "time she started to make her own living." So she applied for a job in her father's canning factory here just like other poor little working girls and was accepted.

The heiress was piqued at the publicity attendant to her start at the bottom in her father's plant.

"Why shouldn't I want to work? Isn't that my business?"

Her father, however, was elated. "I am mighty proud of Elinor," he said. "I see so many flapper daughters today whose only thought seems to be teas, dances, drinks, cigarettes and theaters that I think a girl should be given lots of credit who really wants to work."

Elinor punches the clock and, according to her father, she does her work right but is not the best tomato-peeler in the plant. If she comes in late or leaves early, the cannery cashier will dock her wages, her father said.

Dr. Dorrance is said to be worth between 40 and 50 million dollars and Elinor is his only daughter.

Milledgeville, Ga., October 28.—(AP)

While the state democratic executive committee today declared Rev. J. F. McCluney the nominee for state representative from Baldwin county, the county executive committee, in session this afternoon, tabled the instructions of the state committee for another recount and in a second resolution declared Marion H. Allen the nominee.

The county executive committee ignored the state committee all the way through in today's session, it was stated by men connected with both sides of the controversy, even to the extent of barring lawyers from each side from appearing before that body.

G. E. Maddox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, wired W. W. Steenbridge, chairman of the Baldwin county executive committee, tonight that the state committee has declared J. F. McCluney the nominee for state representative "because of violations of rules and instructions from the state executive committee."

Over the long-distance telephone Mr. Maddox stated that it was the first time in the history of Georgia democracy that a local committee had defied the state committee.

Further defiance is indicated by a threat tonight to have failure of the county committee to again purge the voters' list by October 28, as required by a subcommittee of the state executive committee. This announcement was made Thursday by Mrs. Beasie

A bright suggestion!

If you know somebody who's going to have a birthday soon, here's a bright suggestion: give him a good flashlight. It will brighten his life. It will be useful in hundreds of ways.

And where I say "him" and "his," you can substitute "her" and "hers" where occasion demands. For a good flashlight is equally appreciated by both sexes, young and old.

There's just one admonition: Make sure that it is a genuine Eveready Flashlight—the best there is! —(adv.)

committee of the Georgia Bankers' association, which Monday definitely announced that this plan had been approved and that immediate application for a charter would be made. The meeting was one of a series that will be held before final organization plans have been completed.

Charter for the finance corporation is now in progress of preparation and will be available in about two weeks, according to James S. Floyd, chairman of the committee. Meetings will be held at intervals until the charter is secured, in order to work out details of the plan and get matters in shape to proceed rapidly with the withdrawal operation. The finance corporation will have a borrowing capacity of $10,000,000 from the federal intermediate credit banks.

Judge R. L. Rodgers, Former Atlantan, Ill., But Reported Better

Judge Robert L. Rodgers, formerly a prominent attorney of Atlanta and a leader in activities of the United Confederate Veterans, is recovering, at his home in Beaumont, Texas, after a severe illness, according to word received in Atlanta from his daughter, Mrs. O. F. Corley.

Judge Rodgers is well known in Atlanta, having formed numerous friendships during the many years he lived here. He left Atlanta 18 years ago to make his home in Texas.

Baptists Will Dedicate New Hospital Unit Sunday

Governor-elect L. G. Hardman will deliver the principal address at the dedication services of the new surgical building of the Georgia Baptist hospital, at East avenue and North Boulevard, next Sunday at 3 o'clock. This service was postponed last Sunday on account of inclement weather but arrangements have been made in case of bad weather again to hold services in the Primitive Baptist meeting house adjoining the hospital on East avenue.

Other features of the program will be special music by the orchestra of the Gordon Street Baptist church, a message from the Baptist women by Mrs. W. J. Neel, president of the Baptist Women's Missionary union of the state, and another message from the medical and surgical staff by Dr. J. D. Manget, of Atlanta, president of the staff.

The Georgia Baptist hospital is one of the largest institutions in the city and has as its objective a general and efficient ministry to the sick poor in the city. Last year the service rendered free by the hospital amounted to $33,000 and the free service of its group of doctors approximated more than $42,000, so that the contribution through this institution of free service amounted to $75,000. In the 13 years that the hospital has been owned and operated by Baptists of Georgia a free contribution to the sick poor has been made, totaling more than three-quarters of a million dollars, leaders assert.

With the opening of the new surgical building, costing $350,000, the capacity of the hospital has been doubled and the equipment very much improved. The hospital has an A-1 grade in the standardization of the American College of Surgeons and its training school for nurses is accredited and one of the outstanding institutions of its kind.

Citizens of Atlanta are expected Sunday afternoon to join Baptists of Georgia in the dedication services to the opening of the new surgical unit.

'DARTMOUTH NIGHT' PROGRAM TONIGHT AT BILTMORE HOTEL

"Dartmouth Night," the annual alumni celebration of Dartmouth college, will be observed in Atlanta tonight. Local alumni of the old New England college, together with graduates residing in nearby cities, will meet at the Biltmore hotel at 7 o'clock for dinner.

At the same time of the Atlanta meeting similar gatherings will be held by Dartmouth men all over the world. The toastmaster of the Atlanta dinner will be Allan C. Gottschaldt, president of the Southeastern Alumni association of Dartmouth college. Entertainment arrangements are in charge of Louis H. Reitor, secretary of the association.

MRS. MARVIN WILLIAMS ELECTED BY W. C. T. U.

Gainesville, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. Marvin Williams, of Atlanta, was unanimously elected president of the Georgia Woman's Christian Temperance Union at the morning session of the annual convention here, Mrs. Williams was elevated from the vice presidency.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, who has served the past two terms as president, refused to allow her name to be voted upon. Her national duties connected with the C. O. C. U. force her to relinquish the Georgia presidency, she said.

Mrs. Dudley D. Smith, Eastman, was elected unanimously to the vice presidency. She is a daughter of Mrs. Armour.

A touching memorial service was held at noon for the members who have died since the last convention.

The name of Mrs. Theresa Griffin, of Columbus, was put on the memorial perpetual membership as a gift from the members of the Columbus union.

Then followed a series of reports, first from the state officers and then from each district president. After that round of details, Mrs. J. A. Thomas, Savannah, addressed the convention. "The Responsibility of Missionary Women With Regard to the Cause of Temperance."

One of the tablets to be placed outside the home was donated by John A. Manget, director on the board, in honor of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Manget, and will be presented to the home by James Morton in the absence of Mr. Manget from the city.

The other tablet, in memory of Mrs. Viola Gray Ivy, formerly vice president of the Witches' club, will be unveiled at the door of the dining room. It was given by Mrs. Ivy's mother, Mrs. A. D. Woodward, and a sister, Mrs. W. J. Poole.

PRESBYTERIAN BODY TO MEET IN COLUMBUS
Augusta, Ga., October 28.—(AP)—The synodical auxiliary of Presbyterian synod of Georgia, in session here today, selected Columbus for the next meeting which is to be held in October, 1927, and elected the following officers:

Mrs. W. M. Rowland, Augusta, vice president and historian; Mrs. Audley Morton, Athens, secretary of Sunday school extension and young peoples work; Mrs. A. L. Patterson, Savannah, secretary assemblies and home missions; Mrs. S. L. McCarty, Augusta, secretary Christian societies and service; Mrs. Lee McWilliams, Dalton, literary secretary; Mrs. W. R. Hester, Atlanta, treasurer.

The other officers will be held by present incumbents for another year, as their term of office has not expired. Mrs. W. A. Turner, of Newnan, is president of the organization.

50 MILES OF PAVING SOON TO BE AWARDED

More than 50 miles of paving contracts on Georgia highways will be let by the state highway board on November 24, it was announced Thursday by Chairman John N. Holder. The contracts call for an approximate expenditure of $2,000,000, it was said.

The paving projects are located in Meriwether, Tift, Mitchell, Richmond, Jefferson, Cobb, Lowndes and Cook counties; are practically all links in trunk highways through the state, and will connect up other links of paving, it was said.

Some of the contracts were scheduled to be let during the past month, but action was postponed by members of the commission because of Chairman Holder's leave of absence during his campaign for re-election.

Alleged Distiller Held.

Charged with having a still in his home at 434 Poultry street, James Wilson, negro, Thursday was held for United States district court by Commissioner Ledbetter. Wilson admitted in commissioner's court that it was his first offense and that he would not do it again. Bond was fixed at $500.

CAPTAIN SWINNERTON LEAVES HOSPITAL

Captain Joseph M. Captain Swinnerton has been in charge of the United States Marine recruiting station of the Atlanta district for the past year, and has been in the service for 23 years.

Pending the arrival of Captain Swinnerton's successor, who has not been named as yet, Lieutenant R. H. Hoffer will be in charge of the local recruiting station.

BAPTIST STUDENTS HOLD CONFERENCE

Birmingham, Ala., October 23.—(AP) Representing 250 colleges in 17 states, several hundred Baptist students were in attendance upon the initial session of the first all-southern Baptist students' conference when it assembled here tonight.

Sounding the official slogan of the meeting, "Make Christ Master of This Generation," Frank H. Leavell, of Memphis, executive secretary of the interboard commission on student religious activity of the Southern Baptist convention, under the auspices of which organization the gathering is held, pointed out the object of the conference as being that "of learning the will of Christ for this generation and ascertaining how the students can apply the principles of Christ on their respective campuses."

Advance Christianity. "If Christ is made the master of this generation it must be done by minorities," Mr. Leavell declared. "The cause of Christianity has always been advanced by minorities, and if the principles of Christ are put into action in the college life of the south today, the young men and women gathered here must constitute the minority that will serve as a leaven to heaven the whole lump. My hope is that you, having caught a new vision of the principles of Christ in personal conduct, will go back to your own colleges and live the Christ life, thereby giving your largest contribution toward making the principles of Christ live with real dynamic power in the lives of other students as well."

Student officers will preside at the various sessions of the conference. Merrill Moore, of the Southern Baptist theological seminary, Louisville, presided at the opening session with Dr. J. W. Cammack, of Birmingham, secretary of the education board of the Southern Baptist convention, offering the opening prayer. The music of the entire conference will be under the direction of Professor I. E. Reynolds, of the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary at Fort Worth. C. R. Tew, of Wake Forest college, Wake Forest, N. C., spoke on "What My Generation Asks to Make Christ Its Master," while James Street, of Mississippi college, Clinton, Miss., brought a message on "What My Generation Offers to Make Christ Its Master."

The principal address of the evening was brought by Dr. S. D. Gordon of New York, author of doctoral books widely read by college students, on "The Present World Outlook," as it relates to the prospect of the world accepting Christ as its master in this generation. Continuing the evening session a pause prayer was led by Harmond Westmoreland, of Ouachita college, Arkadelphia, Ark.

Round-Table Conference. Scores of special delegations arrived during the day from every section of the south. A special train from the east brought delegations from Maryland, Virginia and the Carolinas and another from the west brought large delegations from Texas and Louisiana, while two special cars were required for the delegation from Missouri, as well as of Oklahoma, and special cars came from Arkansas, Kentucky and numerous individual college communities, such as Columbus and Blue Mountain, Miss.

Beginning with Friday the afternoon hours will be given over to group conferences when the practical, personal, social and religious problems of the campus will be studied in round-table fashion, with the students furnishing the data upon which conclusions are reached, while on Sunday afternoon there will be an open mass meeting when the findings of the conference will be presented and Dr.

Discuss U. S. Merchant Marine Future Here

Officials here Thursday to conduct hearing on future of the U. S. merchant marine. Left to right: J. Phelan, statistician; B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Admiral William S. Benson, in charge of the hearing; John Nicholson, legislative secretary, and D. P. Eldridge, secretary to Admiral Benson.

George W. Truett, of Dallas, will bring the concluding message on the theme "Christ, the One Adequate Hope For Humanity."

MERCHANT MARINE RETENTION URGED

by privately-owned ships. "The success of a manufacturer of staple commodities in highly competitive foreign markets depends on quality and service," Mr. Williamson said. "Should the government guarantee regular scheduled sailings, its ships would meet with greater favor of the American exporter," he said.

While favoring government ownership of vessels, F. R. Gress, assistant attorney general for Georgia, declared that "the department of commerce should help us to develop our trade in foreign countries." "The government," he said, "should increase its agents in foreign lands to dispose of our products."

"Under government ownership and operation, there is no opportunity for discrimination in rates," Edgar Watkins, former examiner of the interstate commerce commission and a representative of the Atlanta freight bureau, declared. He commended the service given by the United States shipping board, stating that a considerable amount of shipping to and from Atlanta was partly water-borne and had been found most satisfactory. Government ownership and operation would be far better than mere subsidy by the government, he said.

Maddox Praises Service. Robert F. Maddox, president of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank, commended the service of the United States merchant marine and pointed out the necessity of its efficient shipping rapid transportation of their products. Economic stability and progress depend, he said, to a great extent on rapid transportation facilities. The government, he said, is taking more interest in the economic welfare of this section of the south at the present time than it has in the more than 20 years he has been in the banking business. "Ever since the first steamship crossed the ocean from the port of Savannah and named Savannah, Georgia has been interested in shipping," Mr. Maddox said.

Shippers should be lenient on the United States merchant marine as ocean conditions at present are abnormal, E. S. Trousdale, president of the South Atlantic Steamship line at Savannah, declared. "We are holding right now," he said, "twice the business we expected. The shipping board will handle for the South Atlantic and Gulf states approximately two and one-half million bales of cotton, which is a fairly large percentage of the total."

W. H. Camp, a large exporter of oil and mill machinery, declared that while the government has given good service private ownership of American ships should eventually take place after the government has built up the merchant marine to the point where the transfer would be possible.

Armand May Chairman. Armand May, chairman of the foreign trade committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and president of the American Mills company, stated that his company had received equal benefit as good service from the United States shipping lines as it did from foreign lines. Mr. May acted as chairman at the hearing and introduced all the speakers save Admiral Benson, who had called on Henderson Hallman, a local attorney, to introduce the shipping board chairman.

"Without our ships," the admiral said, "foreign countries would bleed us dry in every way they could. Our ships tend to stabilize freight rates. As an economic principle we Americans want the means of national defense in time of peace to be used in the promotion of our economic welfare."

The admiral called attention to the fact that the government through supplying ships at the port of Galveston to transport grain had saved $800,000,000. The farmer or manufacturer in the interior is absolutely dependent, he continued, on the merchant marine in the marketing of his surplus products. It would be practically impossible for private capital to keep open trade routes while the United States shipping board can stabilize freight rates as well as deliver the goods, he said.

B. B. Cheek, traffic manager of the Georgia Cotton Growers Cooperative association, upon complimenting the merchant marine, was asked by Admiral Benson if he had observed any representative from British steamship lines in Georgia soliciting transportation business at the expense of the United States merchant marine, as had been called to his attention in other cotton-growing states. Mr. Cheek stated that he had not been the case in Georgia.

Luncheon Is Given. That a definite policy of government operation of the American merchant marine be adopted and vigorously continued until an American-owned fleet, adequate to the needs of our shippers, could be developed under private ownership and management, was urged at a joint luncheon of the Atlanta Foreign Trade club, officials of the chamber of commerce and representative shippers, train porters, men and others, held Thursday at the chamber in honor of Admiral Benson and his staff.

The suggestion was presented by Admiral Benson and board officials in the form of the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this group of representative business men of Georgia that a definite policy of government operation of United States Merchant Marine be adopted and vigorously continued until such time as is necessary to secure to our people a carrier system under the American flag adequate to the needs of the nation."

C. A. Cobb, editor of the Southern Ruralist, introduced the resolution, which was voted on favorably by the gathering.

Hallman Presides. The luncheon, which was presided over by Henderson Hallman, vice president of the chamber of commerce, followed immediately after the general hearings which were conducted during the morning.

QUEEN'S IMPRESSIONS OF WASHINGTON

ers which had been sent to me. There was a basket of glorious white lilies and pale delphiniums, and oh, the orchids, how lovely they were, and that beloved flower, the gardenia, which one seldom finds anywhere but in England and which is such a favorite of mine.

Cold Had Improved. I was not tired at all, in spite of all the emotions of the day; only I can say that my cold had improved. Our only anxiety was to get our luggage in time so as to be able to dress for dinner, to which Mr. Djuvara had invited several diplomats and friends.

My children were in and out of my room, excited and joyful, discussing all the events, each giving an opinion upon all we had seen during this first eventful day. We already seemed to have lived so much, we had to make an effort to remember that in the morning we had been on our floating home, the "Leviathan."

Mr. Djuvara's dinner was elegant, and the food he served us was delicious. Good cheer and animated conversation made it indeed a pleasant meal. Our luggage had been brought to us in plenty of time.

There was none of that tiring rush about getting dressed, which so often disturbs one's peace of mind, when one is moving from place to place. It was a good feeling to be among the old and valued friends, of more tragic and strenuous days; Mr. Nelson Cromwell, Colonel Anderson, Colonel Ament, and others; all eager and ready to show me the more smiling side of life.

Memories of Other Days. Looking at their kindly faces, however, many a tragic or sad vision rose before my eyes. Had not Colonel Anderson followed me through miles of hospitals, where the sick and wounded often lay herded together three in one bed? The marvelous aid of the American Red Cross, in those days, had helped us to do wonders and to remedy in part conditions that had overwhelmed us after our sad retreat to Jassy. And Colonel Ament, then on the Hoover food organization, had we not traveled from village to village organizing great food centers, where the starving peasant children could get two warm meals a day? How we had rejoiced at their thin happy little faces, and when I looked at him over the flower-decked table, I knew he was thinking of the same things.

And Mr. Nelson Cromwell. The first time I met him was in Paris in 1919, among the war invalids, and now we all sat together smiling at each other, happy to be thus peacefully united upon American ground. We did not make the conversation after dinner very long as we felt we deserved a well-earned rest, although we had plenty to say to each other.

I slept beautifully and at seven the next morning my secretary was already in my room and from my bed I dictated to him some of the many things I had to write.

It was a glorious sunny morning, so welcome, as this day I was to see the sights of Washington and to drive to beautiful Mount Vernon.

After an appetizing breakfast we started at a reasonable hour for Arlington. In spite of my cold, which was not much better, I had persuaded those attending me to allow me to drive in an open motor, for only thus could I properly see the beautiful town and its surroundings.

At Arlington I was received with military honors and was happy to recognize the same cavalry that had escorted me the night before. I even recognized certain horses and the faces of some of the men. I am a great lover of horses and nothing could give me keener delight than watching the beautiful animals trotting along by the side of my car.

I was astounded at the perfection of the Arlington churchyard. I never had seen a cemetery more beautifully conceived and carefully carried out. There is nothing sad about this place of peace where so many heroes are sleeping their last sleep. The beauty of the green lawns, of the wide-spreading trees, the marvelous way in which everything is kept is a sight I shall never forget.

Praises War Memorial.

And how noble is your war memorial, that dignified snow-white building so classical of line, so magnificently carried out. And what a situation, what a superb, wide spreading view, and stepping out of the temple, the unknown soldier's grave.

Indeed, nothing could be more imposing, and it was with veritable emotion that I bowed my head and said a prayer before the tomb of that mother's son who has no name, and in thought I saw that other tomb in far Rumania which is honored in the same way.

A royal salute was fired while I placed a wreath of flowers in the Rumanian colors upon that sacred stone. Then off we flew through the autumn coloring upon a table smooth road towards Mount Vernon, another sacred shrine.

I keenly enjoyed that brisk drive through the fresh, bracing air, and the celebrated American autumn trees in no wise disappointed me. The ruby-red, amber and russet tones of the American oak, dogwood and maples was a continuous enchantment.

CITY WOMAN CLERK NOW GRANDMOTHER

Mrs. John Peel, license clerk in the office of City Clerk Walter C. Taylor, Thursday announced the birth of a granddaughter, Barbara Caroline Peel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peel. Mr. Peel last season was the pitching ace of the Bradenton, Fla., baseball squad. Next year he will break into major league ball in Pennsylvania. Little Barbara arrived October 23, according to announcement Thursday.

75 New Prisoners.

Seventy-five new prisoners have been received at the Atlanta Federal penitentiary within the past three days. Of this number, 14 were received Thursday. Six inmates of the prison Friday received their freedom through parole.

INDIANA TO MAKE REPORT ON GRAFT AFTER ELECTION

Indianapolis, Ind., October 28.—(AP) No report will be made before election day by the grand jury that is investigating alleged political corruption in Indiana, court officials indicated today. Attorney General Arthur Gillott, acting as a deputy prosecutor, said the inquiry would probably be adjourned over the week-end. The investigation was started October 12 after Thomas H. Adams, publisher of the Vincennes, Ind., Commercial, had for several days made charges that high Indiana officials, some of them candidates for reelection, had entered into corrupt deals with D. C. Stephenson, former Ku Klux Klan grand dragon.

A cabinet size photograph of a young lady, a smaller folder of another young lady and a number of kodak snapshots have been found in the lobby of the post office and will be returned to the owner if she will call at the city editorial rooms of The Constitution and identify the property.

Noted Circus Equestrienne Will Thrill Circus Crowds

May Wirth, said to be the greatest woman bareback rider in the world, will be seen in daring feats here with Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus Monday.

"Little Empress of the Arena." That was the title bestowed upon May Wirth, the star equestrienne of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus, by one of her most fervent admirers.

Here is the true story. A little gray-haired old lady, sprightly of manner and quick of step despite her years, traveled over a hundred miles for the sole purpose of seeing May Wirth in her dashing bareback act, while the "greatest show on earth" was exhibiting at the New Madison Square Garden, New York.

"I was once a star of the arena myself," explained the little old lady with a glimmer of professional pride in her eyes. "I was then known as Mlle. Elvira when my husband, Richard Hemmings, owned his own show, and we traveled overland by wagon from town to town, from hamlet to city. One summer we voyaged up and down the Hudson river, carrying all our equipment and horses by boat and showing at all the towns on both sides of the river.

"Well," continued Mrs. Hemmings, "I just had to see May Wirth ride. I'd heard she was the greatest in her line today and all I have to say is, I think she is superior to Madame Dockrill, Senora Cordona, Mollie Brown and all who were famous in my time. I think May Wirth ought to be crowned 'Little Empress of the Arena.' That's what she is."

More than seventy famous riders have enrolled with the big show this present season. American and European celebrities like the Rieffenschneider sisters, the Ernestos, Mme. Ella Bradna, the Wirth family, the Mardos, the Mitzi will all be seen here in equestrian displays next Monday for the first time since 1924.

Constitution's Elephant WOMAN CONTESTANT GIVES LISTS TO FRIENDS Game Creating Interest

"I have just come from a vacation, I saw your puzzle, and I want a number of copies to send friends. This is a brain teaser of the very best kind. It is a wonder everybody does not get in on the contest whether they go in for a prize or not. It is the best fun I know."

That is the way a woman visitor to The Constitution's elephant puzzle contest department expressed herself. "I am going after some of these big prizes," challenged another caller. "I want several copies of the picture. I am going to do my best to win."

"Whether I get a prize or not, I feel sure that I will have done a good turn by getting into the competition. It is a fine mental exercise, a topic for the powers of observation and calculation," is the way another contestant looks at it.

All of them appear to be right. It all depends on the individual. All are sure to agree that The Constitution elephant puzzle picture will appeal to almost everybody.

Letters asking for extra pictures are pouring into the contest department, many accompanied by subscription payments have been received, thus showing that some of the contestants were early on the job and have been working hard from the very beginning. Some solutions on the other hand have come without remittance for qualification.

It is advisable to study the figures in the picture very closely so that nothing is missed that may appear in the drawing. There is an ample supply of elephant pictures to take care of all requests and contestants are invited to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for them if desired. At The Constitution office by calling or sending for them.

An interested contestant from Atlanta asks the following questions:

First: Will the correct weight of the elephant be made public by being announced in your columns after the awards have been determined and before any tie puzzles are submitted?

Question Answered. Answer: The elephant adding contest officially closes Saturday night, November 30, 1928. Five days will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger prizes to do so if they so desire. In the event that there are no ties, of course the correct or nearest correct solution will get first prize. The amount of that prize depends entirely on the qualification remittance in accordance with the prize list as stated in columns 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. If there should be any ties, however, the correct weight of the elephant will not be given until the tie-puzzle chart, together with the rules governing same are submitted. The names of those tying will be published in the paper, but not their addresses. This, of course, is on condition that there will be ties.

Question 2: Is any part of the elephant's body, such as his trunk, to be considered as a figure to help determine his weight? For example, his whole trunk might be read as a figure six?

Answer: The elephant's weight is composed of figures. Every figure is separate and independent of the other, and the aggregate total or the sum total of all the figures added one by one should be the solution. The elephant as a whole could not be considered a figure.

Qualification Set Out. Question 3:—What qualifies one to be a bona fide resident of the state of Georgia?

Answer: Anyone who is living in Georgia at the time the contest was announced as a resident of the state. This contest is open to all residents of Georgia and adjoining states. Those who live outside of Georgia and adjoining states, and are only visiting in Georgia or adjoining states, are not bona fide residents, and therefore are not eligible.

Question 4:—Do you mean to say that the same tie-deciding puzzle, about 11 by 7 inches, will be submitted for five times in deciding tie solutions? You state, if necessary this chart will be used five times, after which, etc.

Answer: According to the rules of the contest, the tie chart and rules governing same will be submitted only on condition that there are ties. The tie chart in question will be submitted with certain rules and regulations governing same. Should a second tie chart have to be submitted (and it is very doubtful that a second tie chart will have to be submitted) the same chart will be submitted, but different rules governing same, which of course will mean a different solution.

Heroic Rescues Feature Crash Of 2 Steamers

New Orleans, La., October 28.—(AP) Stories of thrilling rescue of the crew of the steamer Louisiana, sulphuric acid laden freighter which sank after being rammed amidship at the mouth of the Mississippi river today, were related here tonight by officers and members of the crew.

The Madison, sister ship of the Louisiana, whose bow crashed into the other as she entered the river, arrived late today bearing the crew of the Louisiana. The crew of the Louisiana, many of whom were asleep at the time of the collision, awakened by the force of the blow, fled by sleep and suffocation by sulphuric acid fumes, had difficulty in making their way to the pilot boat Underwriter, which sped from Port Eads, a short distance away, to the scene of the accident.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial pneumonia, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(adv.)

PARRISH WILL DIRECT COTTON CONTROL BODY

Memphis, Tenn., October 28.—(AP) Dr. Tait Parrish, of Memphis, chairman of the executive committee of the All-South Cotton conference, announced today appointment of C. D. Parrish, of Dyersburg, Tenn., as executive secretary of the Central Cotton Control committee. Mr. Parrish's headquarters will be in Memphis.

"Reports of acreage reduction coming from every county in the south are very encouraging," Dr. Parrish said tonight.

So far, he said, owners of 114,000 acres of cotton in Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee have signed contracts to plow up their cotton on December 1, providing sufficient acreage is pledged to assure the destruction of cotton in sufficient quantities to bring an advance in price.

MAJOR GENERAL BELL IS DEAD IN CHICAGO

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.) Chicago, Ill., October 28.—Major General George Bell, Jr., surrendered tonight.—to death.

The valiant war-time commander of the 33rd division of the American expeditionary forces died at 7:10 o'clock in the Belden-Stratford hotel. With him when he came were his wife, Mrs. Mary Hunt Bell; Dr. Gustavus Blech, who was a colonel under General Bell in France; Lieutenant C. J. Perfit, manager of the hotel, and Brigadier General and Mrs. Frank W. Schwengel. His daughter and her husband, Colonel Wood, stationed at San Francisco, Calif., left for Chicago this morning.

General Bell was one of the outstanding figures of the world war. He won the distinguished service medal, was made knight commander of St. Michael and St. George (British) and commander, Legion of Honor (French) and was awarded the Croix de Guerre with palm.

Under General Bell's command, the 33rd, or Prairie division, won fame on three sectors, taking 36 kilometers of territory under fire, capturing 68 officers, 8,924 mm. 68 field pieces, 414 machine guns and important stores. His was the only American division brigaded both with the French and the British and later fighting under its own flag.

Valentino Is Resurrected In Ibanez' 'Four Horsemen'

GERMAN MILITARISM IMPALED IN GREAT FILM

BY E. A. CIEFF.

Poor Valentino! They won't let his sleek, brunette soul rest in peace! In response to pressure from hundreds of female fans, who are not satisfied with simply reading the autobiography of the sleek as printed daily in The Constitution, Manager Tom James presents for the coming week at Loew's Grand Rudolph Valentino in Vicente Ibanez' "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

On Thursday Manager James presented a critic's showing of the picture. This matured a rather severe test of the film, with no music and the figure of a man who is dead fitting across the scene in a manner sufficiently phantom-like to send The Constitution's critic scurrying in a cold sweat out of the theater before the reel was half run.

Rise of Young Star.
No comment on Valentino's acting can now be criticism 100 per cent impartial, for nothing save good must be spoken of the dead—and we have columns of newspaper accounts to show that the Italian motion picture hero who was said once to have polished brass in an American barroom, actually has joined Caesar, Nero and the other immortals on Olympus.

Valentino has been ridden down—as all of us must be by the "Four Horsemen." Many survive "Horseman Conquest," some escape "Horseman War," a few dodge "Horseman Pestilence," but none can escape the "Horseman Death." And Valentino has gone down with the good who die young.

It is easy to see in "The Four Horsemen" that Rudolph Valentino is just beginning to make his way into public favor. When he posed for these scenes in an American barroom, the threshold of fame and success and he had scarcely overcome the stage fright of seeing his millionth name shine out in bright white lights.

He is a little awkward in spots, perhaps a little over-ardent in his demonstrative love scenes for the men spectators. But he had begun to please the ladies, and they were, after all, Valentino's gold mine.

Role in Great Picture.
In his elegantly nice role of Julio, Valentino is not the major part of this picture. He is confined to playing the part of a dilettante, a coward, a slacker, cad and a cur. And he succeeds well-nigh to perfection.

The main motif of the film overbalances Valentino. The splendid scenes on the Argentine ranches, the picturesque glimpses of Spanish-colored cubby holes in South America, the gay views of Paris and the thundering business of world war form the principal portions of the picture. Against them Valentino is seen in delicate lines with vivid contrast. If "Valentino had never been called upon to play a part more important than that which he takes in "The Four Horsemen," he would have made far fewer enemies in this country. It was when he was brought out as a principal in his "sleek" roles that his influence upon native youth and the few enemies he made were so disastrously destructive to America's nature.

"The Four Horsemen" of course, is worth seeing. For those who have seen it, it is worth seeing again. For it preaches against war. It blasts the arrogant German militarist autocrat with its stupid squariness, its goose-step, its hideously contemptible disrespect for women, its brutal methods of dishonoring the vanquished, its conduct on the field of battle and its idiotic, perverted, diabolical system of bootlicking of curmudgeon higher officers from the back private condemned as cannon fodder.

What Critic Likes.
That is what I like in this picture and in the story! Not Valentino, for he is only an incident. But the indescribable mockery of war, the grotesque caricature of German godlessness and the Kaiser's schrecklichkeit.

The impression thus conveyed is worth remembering. Men from this country have fallen before the German dunders. Can responsible parties ever be forgiven? One may take it from Ibanez's story as presented by the actor at the Grand that the war guilt lies heavy and over an as yet unmeasured length of time.

GAINESVILLE MILL PLANS OUTLINED

The details necessary to carry out the program.

Mr. McCormick announced his intention to build a new mill at Gainesville, Ga., in the line of goods. He was accompanied by Mr. Slocum, of the Slocum and company, who are the selling agents for the Chipmunk Mills.

First Georgia Unit.
The Chipmunk Manufacturing Corporation of Georgia, with general headquarters now at New Brunswick, N. J., will build its first Georgia unit at the highly elevated site where the Hall county farm is now located. The main building will be erected on the Southern railroad. This site was recommended by W. A. Carlisle and Mr. Carlisle's suggestion, the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce took the option. Mr. Carlisle interested the Southern railroad, and both G. W. Lee, of Atlanta, industrial agent, and J. C. Williams, Washington, D. C., vice president and general manager of the Southern development service, took the matter up with President John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of the Rockefeller Foundation. Mr. Carlisle had been working on this site for 18 months, it was stated. Several other Georgia sites were considered after the company finally decided on the Gainesville site.

The mill, bleachers and the other factory buildings are to be built at a cost of about $3,000,000. The plants will be built with the roofs and the mill will be one of the world's most modern plants in all respects, the speakers declared.

The 400 or more modern brick, tiled roofed cottages will be erected along with the plant for employees. The modern mill will have concrete streets and all modern conveniences. The mill will be known as the "Chipmunk Mills" and the Southern railway will build a station at that name, it was announced.

Spaulding & Spaulding, of Atlanta, are working on Georgia incorporation papers, and Joseph E. Sirrine, Greenville, S. C., was instrumental in approving the site and in drawing the plans, it was further stated.

The Gainesville chamber of Commerce offered every assistance in inducing the plant to locate in Gainesville, the most active were Orrin McDermott, John Blodgett, and Edgar Dunlap, all former officials. J. W. Jacobs, present president, carried on the work, chamber officials stated tonight.

Mr. McCormick stated that Georgia was selected as the most nearly ideal site because of its low tax rates; its policy of not issuing bonds excepting for essential progressive projects; the availability of raw materials; fine transportation facilities, and the plentiful supply of Anglo-Saxon labor available.

Representatives of the Georgia Railway and Power company have been particularly courteous in assisting us to find an ideal site in Georgia," Mr. McCormick declared. "The service offered by this company is the best available in the southern territories which we investigated and we are certain that it will be of such a quality that we will not find it necessary to build any power plant at our new mill. The electrical service which we expect, as well as the service already accorded us by the industrial representative of the Georgia Railway and Power company is one of the principal reasons why we decided to locate in Georgia."

Departments Aided.
"The industrial representatives of the Southern railroad, the attitude of the county commissioner of Hall county, and of the industrial committee of the chamber of commerce, also played a large part in our ultimate decision to locate in Georgia."

Everything about the plant will be "southern," Mr. McCormick said, including the laborers and the superintendents. As the products already have been sold, the plant is certain to operate 24 hours per day for 12 months of the year, he said.

The decision to locate the new plant in Georgia was made only after a three-year survey of the south. By the process of elimination, comparative poor transportation facilities and other lack of resources narrowed the choice down to Georgia, and Gainesville finally was decided upon.

Mayor W. G. Meador, B. P. Gilliland, Jr., James A. Holloman, of The Atlanta Constitution; John Paschal, of The Atlanta Journal, were the speakers welcoming the new plant to Gainesville and Georgia. Colonel Edgar B. Dunlap acted as toastmaster. Res-

WATSON CARRIED KLAN CARD, REPORT

and George W. Meyers, of Marion, Ind., a former klanman.

Bossett asserted that there was no present when Dr. Evans asked him if he was ready to resign. W. Lee Smith, who succeeded Bossett as grand dragon, and Joseph Huffington, of Indianapolis, a great cyclops, were in Washington at the time, Bossett said, but he insisted under vigorous questioning by Senator Reed, that neither of them was present at his meeting with Dr. Evans.

Testimony regarding the Minnesota and Iowa senatorial contests was given by Hilton Elrod, of Indianapolis, formerly editor of the Fiery Cross, a klan publication. Elrod said that Dr. Evans had sent him to Minnesota to see whether there was ground for a contest in the election of Senator Schall over Magnus Johnson, farmer-laborer, in 1924.

Elrod said that later he was sent to Iowa by Zumburn to determine whether there was ground for a contest in the Brookhart-Steck election in the same year. Zumburn was counsel for Dan F. Steck, democrat, who was seated by the senate over Brookhart.

While declaring that the klan was for Steck, Elrod said it was his belief Zumburn was acting more to get himself a legal case than in the interest of the klan when he sent the witness to Iowa.

Dr. Evans was quoted by the Rev. Eric P. Rynn, of North Vernon, Ind., a former klanman, as having stated that the klan was looking after Senator Watson's political interests in Indiana.

Dr. Evans seemed to be wrapped up in Senator Watson's case and wanted him put across, James V. Haden, former secretary of the Indiana klan, testified.

The Washington Conference.
The Washington conference of klanmen to discuss Judge Orin's decision was described by Mayors John L. Duvall, of Indianapolis, and Herbert Males, of Evansville, as well as other witnesses, Joseph Huffington and Robert L. McNay, of Indianapolis, made the trip at the same time. Bolen said, and $400 of Indiana klan money was drawn to defray expenses of the entire party.

Meyers described Zumburn to the committee as the legislative agent of the klan at Washington, declaring that besides immigration restriction legislation, he was interested in legislation for abolishment of parochial schools and "seating of United States senators."

In connection with his last statement, Meyers said klanmen delegates to the Indiana republican convention in 1924 had decided to endorse Senator Watson for the nomination for the vice presidency at the Cleveland convention, because of his efforts to seat Senator Mayfield, of Texas.

Klan Card Charged.
The statement that Senator Watson carried a klan card in 1924 was made to the committee by William M. Rogers, an Indianapolis klanman and it later brought an emphatic denial from Senator Watson, who is recovering from injuries at an Indianapolis hospital.

Rogers said he went to see Senator Watson at Washington by direction of D. C. Stephenson, a former klan official, who now is serving a life sentence in the Indiana penitentiary for murder, with reference to obtaining a job in the department of justice.

The witness explained that he had been doing organization work in Delaware for the klan and that when Watson learned this, he asked for his credentials. Rogers produced the imperial klan card which he said he showed to the senator and declared that Senator Watson had in turn shown him a similar card good for 1924 and 1925.

After announcing the closing of the hearings, at least until after the elections, Senator Reed said he had no desire to do any injustice to any person and that since the names of both Senator Watson and Senator Arthur H. Robinson, republican Indiana, had been brought into the hearings since they testified at Indianapolis last Friday, he would receive and make public statements from them if they desired to make them.

An affidavit from Senator Robinson denying that he now or ever was a member of the klan was received tonight by Senator Reed and it will be made a part of the committee's record. Testimony that it was "generally understood" that Senator Robinson had been a klanman was given to the committee at Kansas City last Monday by R. B. Bradford.

BANDIT SUSPECTS LOST COURT ROUND

Douglas gave a detailed description of the bank robbery and brought out the fact that the three men suspected had been identified as the ones who held up the bank and escaped with cash and cashier's checks totaling approximately $12,000. Mitchell was the bandit who climbed into the cashier's cage and secured the loot while two of his companions kept Hawthorne "covered" with pistols, it was said.

Pistol Identified.
Hawthorne also brought out that one of the pistols held by Atlanta police which was found in the baggage of the suspects was the property of the Unity Trust company and was taken from the bank at the time of the robbery.

Criminal records of suspects were brought to light in the affidavit of C. M. Worley, read at the hearing. Scott served a term of four years in the Atlanta federal penitentiary for motor theft, being sent here from Indiana, it was said. He was known here under the alias of Norman Price. It was stated, and began service of the term on May 21, 1924, and was released on June 21, 1924. Carter, according to federal records, was sentenced under the name of Earl Vines for sending obscene matter through the mails. He was given a term of five years at Toledo, Ohio, and arrived in Atlanta on December 11, 1922, when he began his term in the federal penitentiary here. He was transferred to Moundsville, West Virginia, November 25, 1925. When he was released there could not be found here Thursday. His term expired in June of this year.

county, which carries life imprisonment.

Auto Stolen, Charge.
The automobile in which the suspects came to Atlanta and which is in custody of Atlanta police, has been identified by Inspector Worley as the property of an Indianapolis citizen. It was stolen about six weeks ago, Inspector Worley said.

Mitchell was represented by Attorneys John W. Westmoreland and Len B. Guilbeau; the Indianapolis officers by Hamilton Douglas and Chief Beavers by City Attorney James L. Mayson.

In announcing his decision following the hearing, Judge Pomeroy declared that the defendants in the suits had presented overwhelming evidence to show that the money involved in the litigation was not the property of the oil used was old crankcase fluid, given to the city by garage owners.

FIRST FREEZE KILLED MOSQUITOES IN CITY

The mosquito pest was effectively and permanently eradicated from the winter with the advent of the first freeze, it was announced Thursday by A. T. Fuller, chief of a squad of 14 men who have fought to reduce infestation since April 15.

Mr. Fuller stated that approximately 25,000 gallons of oil have been used this year in an effort to prevent recurrence of the pests, and that their work has been more effective than in former seasons. Most of the oil used was old crankcase fluid, given to the city by garage owners.

Tech High Invades Macon for Struggle With Lanier Poets

G. M. A. Will Meet Decatur, While Boys' High Plays Barnesville Aggies on Local Gridiron—Both Teams Are Primed For Feature Game of Schedule.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

REP FOOTBALL fans will center their interest this afternoon on the University-Boys' High clash, which takes place at Spiller's this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. While this, one of the biggest prep games of the season, is going on, Decatur will attempt to take the G. M. A. Cadets' number on the Decatur grid, and Marist will play Barnesville A. and M. on the Marist campus.

Tech High will make another invasion, going to Macon for a game with Lanier High school.

Boys' High goes into today's game with two of its best men resting on the bench. Red McEckley, star end, decided not to play in the Bluebird game, as he attended University a week before going back to Boys' High, where he played last year. Breezy Winn, big fullback, has a badly injured leg, and will not be able to play.

University also has a good man on the bench, Ferguson, the Bluebirds' best line plunger, having broken his collar bone in the fray at Louisville last Saturday.

Both teams will present a strong lineup for the game and it will be hard fought from start to finish, with the Bluebirds holding a slight edge on the Purple. Both teams have played Columbus High and University beat the boys from the Electric City, 19 to 6, while Boys' won by a score of 12 to 6.

STANDISH AND BOBBY WIN

Bobby Jones and James Standish, director of public links division of the United States Golf association, Watts Gunn and Chick Ridley formed a foursome at East Lake Country club Thursday. The smiling gentleman is Mr. Standish, who is in Atlanta in interest of the municipal courses. In the group they are, left to right, Watts Gunn, James Standish, Tom Paine, Bobby Jones and Chick Ridley. Mr. Standish proved that he is an excellent golfer.

MOREHOUSE 11 PLAYS CAMP TILTS SATURDAY

BY J. C. CHURN.

The Camp Memorial game honoring the "father of football" will be played here Saturday between the Morehouse Tigers and the fast eleven from Clark university. Both teams were defeated in their last two starts, Morehouse by Tuskegee and Howard and Clark by Tuskegee and Morris Brown university.

Both teams have showed up well in their last two battles, but were overpowered by their mighty opponents. Clark has three men who are expected to give Morehouse considerable trouble. The Clark university squad will go on the field for revenge, being defeated twice by the Maroon Tigers in the past two years, and a real battle is expected between the two schools. The mighty three, whom Coach Sam Taylor is depending upon, are Roberts, Beck and Baker, triple threat men, not considering the famous Christopher, at tackle, but the three aforementioned stars are to be pitted against Clark, Tondoe, Lattimer and Captain Cooke of the Maroon Tigers.

Coach Works Hard.
 Coach T. T. Robinson of the Maroon squad has been working overtime in developing formations that will stop the mighty Clark machine.

Coach Harvey turned over the reins of the Maroon Tigers to Assistant Coach Robinson in Tuskegee Saturday after the annual game between Tuskegee and the Maroon Tigers.

Coach Robinson has played the past three years with the Oberlin eleven, where he made an enviable record. A great crowd is expected to turn out when the two teams clash on the Morehouse Athletic field Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Both coaches have declined to announce their line-up until game time. Clark given a slight edge over Morehouse.

MORRIS BROWN GAME CANCELLED.
 The Morris-Brown "Whirlwind" all set to sweep down upon the Payne university eleven of Augusta and destroy its great hope of conquering its mighty eleven, was given a great setback Thursday.

Not by injuries or fear of not accomplishing its end but because the Payne athletic director wired cancellation of the game. This action is a worry to the head coach of Morris-Brown because he has made many changes in his backfield, taking Spruill and Smith off end, Alexander from tackle and putting them in the backfield.

No one was hurt in the Clark battle, but Coach Johnson is dissatisfied with his offensive backfield drive and is working on two new combinations for the Tennessee State Normal game November 6.

Webster, tackle and Dunningham, guard, may see the remaining games on the bench following their poor showing with Clark last Saturday.

Coach "Whirlwind" Johnson upset the dope by defeating Clark in one of the most thrilling games ever witnessed on a gridiron in Atlanta, stopping the mighty Beck, Roberts and Baker, triple-threat men of Clark. He has given the other coaches who are to face him this season, something to think about, and much more is expected of this man in the future.

Western Reserve Star Never Takes Time Out.
 Bill West, captain of the Western Reserve university football team, has never missed a single minute of play and has never had time called for any injury in the two seasons he has played for the Pioneers. He is six feet three inches tall and weighs well over 200.

'Gator Grid Squad Arrives In Athens Today For Big Game

Florida Eleven to Hold Final Workout Today For Clash With Georgia—Bulldogs Make Bad Showing Against Freshmen Using Florida Plays.

THENS, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Florida's football squad will arrive in Athens at noon tomorrow and will be sent in a final workout before Saturday's game with the Georgia Bulldogs. Following their visit to Sanford field, the Red and Black will scamper through their last activities.

Disappointment reigns over the showing of the Bulldogs in the practices this week. This afternoon, in the second scrimmage in the same number of days, very little form was flashed and the outlook is far from pleasing.

The respite allowed the Bulldogs earlier in the week has showed no startling effects. Taking it that the outcome was bettered, the practice did they came up to expectations either defensively or offensively.

The first team used by mentors today included "Blackshear" Smith, center; Jacobson and Davis, guards; Luckey and Laughton, tackles; Woodall and Sluiter, ends; Johnson, quarterback; Hooks and Fleming, half backs, and McGarry, fullback. This eleven was drilled both in offensive and defensive play and retired in favor of a complete new team, which follows: Forbes, center; Lefler and Haley, guards; Huff, Morris and Bryant, tackles; Woodall and "Red" Smith, ends; Cornett, quarter; Estes and Hatcher, halves, and Roland, fullback. Play on the part of both teams was rugged and several times the freshmen, using Florida plays, with the forward pass as a strong weapon, made excellent gains. The aerial game is expected to be Florida's chief mode of attack.

Three Stars Injured.
 Tom Nash, Glenn Bradley, and Gene Smith will be held out of Saturday's game due to injuries. Nash was hurt against Vandy and it had been hoped that he would return, but it is a practical certainty that he will not see service. Glenn Bradley has not improved since the Furman game to the extent that he will get into the game. Gene Smith was absent from today's practice and is a sure absentee. He was hurt yesterday. Especially menacing is the problem confronting the ends.

Citadel Squad Beats South Carolina, 12-9

Orangeburg, S. C., October 28.—(AP)—An underrated Citadel Bulldog blighted the hopes of the odds-on favorite Gamecock of South Carolina for state championship honors by winning the annual football game at the Orangeburg County fair here today, 12 to 9, and making the predictions of the "experts" seem silly.

Although both of the Cadets' touchdowns came in the second period, they were the aggressors throughout the game, and it was only by means of the forward pass that Carolina was able to make any appreciable gains. A capacity crowd estimated at 8,000 persons packed the stands to see the military lads win over their traditional foe for the first time since 1919 when the score was 14 to 0. Perfect football weather prevailed.

Both teams benefited by the so-called "breaks of the game." Carolina's first touchdown was made when Winderly, Carolina back, touched the ball after a Cadet punt had rolled over the goal line only to have Dick Brown fall on it for the Citadel. A fumble by Don Blanding, the Blue and White quarterback, contributed largely to the Gamecock touchdown in the third period, as it was followed by a drive built around two long forward passes that pushed the ball over the white line.

Carolina got off in the lead when "Red" Smith booted a field goal in the first period. Bill Rogers was the outstanding figure on the Gamecock eleven which played a more ragged game today than in any of its previous starts.

E. I. COOLIDGE AGAIN NAMED S. S. A. A. HEAD

At the most enthusiastic meeting held by the association since its formation seven years ago at the Y. M. C. A. last night E. I. Coolidge, president of the association for the past two years, was again elected to fill the chair for the ensuing year.

Mr. Coolidge was elected by a vote of nine to one, there being 10 Sunday schools qualified to participate in the election. Charles Arwood, of Jackson Hill Baptist, was elected treasurer, and Ernest Owen, of Pryor Street Presbyterian, was elected secretary. There was no opposition offered for any of the three elective offices.

The only other business brought before the meeting was the election of Sam J. Glassmann as referee-in-chief, with the provision that Roy Mumford, of East coast of Georgia Tech, be used to officiate as often as Roy can spare the time from his coaching job. Mr. Glassmann was given the authority to use any other qualified officials he saw fit provided Mr. Mumford's services were not available.

Another meeting was called for Monday night, November 8, at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock, at which time further plans for the basketball season will be gone into.

The following teams signified their intention of entering:
 Pryor Street Presbyterian.
 Druid Hills Baptist.
 G. F. G. Class, Capital Avenue Baptist.

St. Paul Methodist.
 Grant Park Baptist.
 Jackson Hill Baptist.
 Triple E. Class of Second Baptist, Central Presbyterian.
 St. Luke's Episcopal.
 Druid Hills Presbyterian.
 T. N. T. class of Baptist Tabernacle.

ARMY ELEVEN HOLDS FINAL GRID PRACTICE

West Point, N. Y., October 28.—The Army football squad had its last workout in preparation for the Yale game and was declared ready for the Bulldog by head Coach "Bill" Jones Thursday afternoon.

"We are going up against Yale's best team," said the Army coach, none too optimistically. "Our chances against that team are none too good."

"The injuries to Trappell and Elias are a big handicap to us. They mean that we cannot start our best combination, but we will do our best."

This initiation of Gil Dobie, the sorrowful Cornell coach, was delivered as Jones watched the cadet squad scamper off the field following signal drill. The injuries to Trappell and Elias, to which he referred, were sustained in the Syracuse game, now under investigation.

The Army squad leaves for New Haven Friday morning and will practice in the Yale bowl in the afternoon.

Another Army casualty proved to be Saunders, regular right tackle, who showed up with an annoying charley horse.

The aid of a 21-yard pass, Wright to Mosley.

In the third period, the Terriers took the ball after a Clemson punt and from the Clemson 45-yard mark started toward the Tiger goal. A forward flip for 17 yards, Wright to Mosley, placed the ball on the 23-yard mark.

Three plays had it on Clemson's 20-yard line and Wright decided to try a placement, which succeeded for the only points of the game.

Score by periods:
 Wofford 0 0 3 0—3

Movement to Extend Municipal Courses Is Launched Here

Committee Will Be Appointed to Circulate Petition Among Users of Public Links—Action Follows Talk by United States Golf Official.

BY C. F. THOMPSON.

Definite move for the propagation of the public links facilities in Atlanta was the direct result of a visit to Atlanta by James Standish, director of the public links division of the United States Golf association.

The move followed a meeting at the Atlanta Athletic club Thursday night, after Mr. Standish had outlined plans for the development of golf through provision of first class opportunities to play the game to people in all walks of life.

Tom Paine, executive committee member of the United States Golf association, was the chairman of the meeting. He was authorized on adoption of a motion by Robert F. Maddox, former mayor of Atlanta, to appoint a committee of five citizens to circulate a petition through the patrons of Atlanta's two municipal courses with the ultimate view of presenting the petition seeking extension of public golfing facilities to the Atlanta city council. The committee will be announced Monday, Mr. Paine said following the meeting.

In his talk Mr. Standish outlined two plans which could be adopted by Atlanta city government to provide spots for more golf.

"This morning I looked over the proposed nine hole site at Candler park and believe that it could be developed into a good nine hole course."

"I also favor laying aside of all net profits from the municipal courses against the time when it will be sufficient to extend the courses to 18 holes, and to provide added equipment in other manners."

"I believe that the circulation of a petition among the public links golfers of this city would result in a huge number of names being signed to them, and in face of this the city council would be more than inclined to study the matter more carefully."

"Doubtless they would be willing to act, for it is evident that Atlanta is well provided in public parks."

That Atlanta was on the threshold of even a greater golfing greatness than it is already, even despite its European synonym of the "golfing capital of the world," is the belief of Mr. Standish.

He also believes that much more liberal facilities will be necessary in the future not far distant to take care of the crowded links. Incidentally, he pointed out that more people could find sporting recreation on a golf course at one time than they could on the same area devoted to tennis courts, baseball diamonds or what not.

The committee to be appointed by Mr. Paine will have as its object, the construction of the nine holes at Candler park and increasing of the number of other courses to 18 holes. Consistently the need is anticipated or felt.

The meeting was the close of a full day for the golf executive. During the afternoon he and Bobby Jones, who was present at the session, beat Chick Ridley and Watts Gunn in a best ball foursome at East Lake country club.

The cheerful Mr. Standish played all the way in high good humor, displaying a smile that was as dazzling as his game. He conversed with Bobby to win the match one up. They played in best ball manner.

All four played par golf with Standish's exhibition of putting on 13 coming as a star in an otherwise average game. He sank a 25-foot putt for a birdie three while all of the others were downing in four.

Of the four, Chick was the only one not quite up to form. He developed a hook, and endeavoring to combat this, a number of times sliced

PETRELS HOLD WORKOUT PREPARING FOR FURMAN

All Injured Players Expected To Return To Lineup Saturday

All Are Back in Harness Except Bell Who is Expected Back in Time For Game With Hurricane—Furman Eleven Will Arrive in Atlanta Tonight.

BY ALTON REDEARN.
WITH the game with the Purple Hurricane of Furman just two days off—the feature game of the S. I. A. A. for this week—the Stormy Petrels Thursday afternoon went through a short and snappy workout.

All the members of the casualty list have returned to practice with the exception of Cy Bell, brilliant backfield luminary. However, Cy appeared on the practice field in civilian clothes and viewed the workout, taking note of the slight change in the plays. He announced that he would be back in uniform this afternoon if the infirmary officials permitted.

At present the Petrel backfield is weaker than it has been since the season began. And on the other hand, the line is perhaps stronger. Coach Robertson has in Shepherd, White and Taliaferro three excellent backs who more than likely will be used some of the time against Furman, as it is expected that Garlington and Bell will only be used for a part of the game.

Two new faces will be seen in the line when the Petrel eleven takes the field Saturday—that is, they are not new but have been out for some time due to injuries. John Goldsmith, the hero of the Tech game, will be back at his old position of right tackle. "Mac" MacLaughlin, who filled the shoes of Goldsmith while injured in such a remarkable style, has been shifted to the center position, replacing Joe Hutton. MacLaughlin's performance of late have been extremely good, and Coach Robertson shifted him to center because he was practically indispensable. All in all, the Petrel forward wall is at least 20 per cent stronger than it has been this season.

Perfecting Machine.
To summarize the work of the Birds thus far this week is quite easy, for Coach Robertson has been working each day toward a perfect combination—one that works as a machine and not a collection of individual stars. He seems to realize that if the Petrels are to win from Furman—the best team in the Carolinas and incidentally the greatest stumbling block between the Birds and another excellent chance at the team.

BIG 10 PREPS FOR FEATURE GRID GAMES

Chicago, October 28.—(AP)—The return from the injured list of three men who figured largely in the Maroons' successive triumphs over Florida and Maryland today brought promise that Ohio State may find heavy going Saturday against a battered Chicago.

McKinney, one of Stagg's two broken field runners, was back at half and Lewis returned to tackle. Also cheering to Maroon followers was the reappearance of Kyle Anderson, brilliant halfback who virtually alone, drove Purdue to its three-yard line last week, was injured and watched the Buckeye players halt the rush for a 6-0 victory.

At Ohio, Wilce hurled his freshmen against the varsity in final practice for the game, which the Buckeyes are generally expected to take in their spectacular stride toward the 1926 Western Conference football title. If anything, the veteran coach has put a finer edge on the attack which swept aside Columbia at New York and, last week, Iowa as a Big Ten challenger.

Zupke braced against the invasion of Pennsylvania with the assurance the Quakers will not use yellow elbow pads. He was not much encouraged by the way his freshmen executed the easterners' hidden ball offense at the expense of the Illinois. The ticket sale is crowding the 60,000 mark. This is a far cry from the 1925 season when Northwestern's aerial game on the eve of the eastward sortie for the second encounter of the fall with Indiana. Two interchangeable backfields are his insurance against the Hoosiers rising to upset one of the likeliest aspirants for the Big Ten title. Pat Pace said little at Bloomington, and worked hard.

Minnesota and Wisconsin eased up today on the work for their tilt at Madison, expected to develop possibly the most important result, in relation to the Big Ten battle, of the week's three conference games.

Yost's face was long as he hustled Michigan aboard an Annapolis bound train. The Wolverine coach pleading that the team he favors against Saturday is far from the eleven that sank the Midshipmen 54 to 0 a year ago, and Iowa retired into the background of the three conference two interseasonals with their minor engagements of the week, while Penn State added the final touch to the Notre Dame machine favored to repulse the invasion of Georgia Tech.

Auburn Favored Over Sewanee 11
Sewanee, Tenn., October 28.—(AP)—After holding Alabama to a 2-0-0 victory last week, Sewanee goes to Montgomery for a "battle of the tigers" with Auburn next Saturday. Auburn will enter the game slightly the favorite, due to the service of the Alabama game on the Sewanee line.

Auburn has a style of play which is somewhat unfamiliar to the Tiger from the mountains of Tennessee, but few if any are expecting to witness a one-sided contest after the showing Sewanee made against the Crimson Tide.

Auburn's string of heavy backs, say the Sewaneans, will have to stop "Mountain" Healey, the Volcano back. Todd, good on line snatching and Young and Johnson, both adepts at carrying the ball.

Amos, center, who created a stir at Dallas, hopes to get back for Sewanee, provided he had sufficiently recovered from an injury. He was unable to play against Alabama. Sewanee's defense system which repelled the aerial attack of the Crimson will be tightened up again for the Plainsmen.

Playground Grid Schedule Arranged
Playground football schedules for Saturday were announced Thursday by Miss Dorothy Hinman, supervisor. All games will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock at the place scheduled and teams which are more than 15 minutes late will forfeit the game.

The following clashes were announced: Junior Teams—Joiner vs. Brown at Brown; Grant vs. Candler at Candler; Cochran vs. Bessie Branch at Bessie Branch. Seniors—Adair vs. Maddox at Maddox; Candler vs. Minnis at Minnis; Brown vs. Forrest at Piedmont.

Y. M. C. A. CHAMPION

FRED COLE.

AERIAL GAME WILL FEATURE TILTS IN EAST

New York, October 28.—(AP)—Pis-kins that pass overhead are coming in for much attention this week on the battlegrounds of the east.

Navy, remembering the 54 to 0 slaughter at the hands of Michigan last year, is living in a world of flying footballs that travel in both directions. Hamilton tosses a flood of passes trying to develop an attack to rival Michigan's famous Benny-Benny combination. And the Navy scrubs imitate Benny and Benny so the regulars can prepare a defense.

More life is needed in the Yale attack and rugged scrimmaging is testing every man of promise for use against Army. Bill Kline has left the Yale backfield because of the illness of a relative. Army is tossing hosts of forwards in practice.

Harvard and Princeton, of the Big Ten, can experiment with overhead work this week, having little fear of Tufts and Swarthmore, respectively. The indolgent beat the Harvard 14 to 13 yesterday, using Princeton plays while Princeton drilled on Harvard passes. Apparently they are scouting each other. Yale and Princeton have an anti-scouting agreement. A crippled Dartmouth varsity, more so now that Dooley's famous passing hand is too swollen for action, is watching substitutes drill for Brown, which gained strength with the return of Hodge, a powerful tackle.

Pennsylvania plans more than a hidden ball attack and deceptive elbow pads for Illinois. Pennsylvania spent the last practice before leaving for Chicago, watching substitutes drill for Brown, which gained strength with the return of Hodge, a powerful tackle.

Colgate has air bombs for Michigan State; West Virginia plays fireworks for Missouri, and Holy Cross will write on the sky with footballs for Dayton university. Boston college has a few tricks in store for West Virginia Wesleyan. Lafayette is working over time for Washington and Jefferson. Cornell drills until long after dark to match the aerial instruction given Columbia. Pennsylvania State and Sewanee do not fear engagements with George Washington and Johns Hopkins, respectively.

Athletics Lose In Legal Battle

Philadelphia, October 28.—The Philadelphia Athletics have lost the first round of their fight to have Sunday baseball declared legal in Pennsylvania.

Judge Hardest, of the Dauphin county court at Harrisburg, handed down a ruling Thursday declaring that the charter powers of the American league club here did not permit violation of the blue laws of 1794. On August 22, the Athletics played a Sunday game with the Chicago White Sox at Philadelphia and when quo warranto proceedings were instituted, pleaded that the blue law did not include baseball, as the game was unknown in the 18th century. The plea was dismissed, the court holding that baseball was a "workable employment" within the meaning of the act of 1794.

An appeal will be taken, as Connie Mack and the owners of the Athletics are anxious to establish Sunday baseball here.

Sweetser Coming

Jess Sweetser, holder of the British amateur golf title will be a visitor to Atlanta November 9, according to word received by friends here Thursday. He is planning to attend the Tech-Vanderbilt game.

COLE WINNER OF HANDBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Fred Cole, displaying the best brand of handball of the tournament, won the handball championship of the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. by defeating "Shirley" Boston, one of the outstanding players of the local "Y," in the finals of the tourney.

It was one of the most exciting battles of the tourney which has been featured by the close playing of the entrants throughout. Boston captured an early lead, taking both the first and second games, 21-19 and 21-16, and at this point it seemed almost sure that Boston would cop the title, but Cole came back stronger than ever in the third game and cut Boston's lead down to one game by winning the third game, 21-10, after one of the hardest fights ever seen in a handball match.

Cole Evens Count.

Cole evened the count when he came back in the fourth game, winning, 21-13. In this game Boston appeared to be weakening, but Cole was stronger than ever and things looked different from the way they did at the start of the battle. With the count standing at two games each, Boston's supporters felt sure of his winning the championship, but Cole, a cool, careful player, played his game and won the fifth and final game, 21-9, winning the championship over one of the strongest fields ever out for the title.

Both men staged one of the greatest fights ever seen on the local court and thrilled the huge gallery lined the court to witness the match. The tournament was featured by the brilliant playing of Cole, who exhibited some of the best ability at handball known to local followers of the sport. Boston also played a great game throughout the tourney, winning most of his matches by easy scores and was ruled a slight favorite when the two met in the finals, but Cole was not lacking in support, for there were many who felt sure that he would come through with a victory over the famous "Shirley" Boston.

The good sportsmanship shown by the competitors featured the match also. On close decisions Boston or Cole would want the other to have the decision.

Alexander Taking 34 Jackets To Face Strong Irish Squad

Team Is Given Great Send-Off by Tech Student Body at Terminal Station—Famous Gold and White Band Is Left at Home—Martin Is Out of Tech Lineup.

BY DICK HAWKINS, Constitution Sports Editor.
TEAMING Through the Carolinas Aboard the Golden Tornado Special, October 28.—A strange air of expectancy pervaded 34 Yellow Jackets and their large retinue of backers headed north by west through the Carolinas tonight for the fray with the Notre Dame Irishmen of Knute Rockne at South Bend Saturday. And even after the green beige curtains had been unfurled and the Golden Wind tucked safely abed, the expectancy seemed to fill the Pullmans inhabited for the nonce by the fledglings of Tech.

With the odds against them, the Techsters will march on the field at South Bend Saturday with but one idea—victory. The esprit d'corps of this football organization at this time strangely exceeds the same morale of the same organization previous to other games played this year.

There is a jocular jollity mixed with stern seriousness as the boys lolled about preparatory for catching their first night's sleep while en route. The jollity hasn't altogether abated, signs of joyousness being continually heard through the blind folds of various sleeping compartments by those who follow the Atlanta gridders hither and yon.

But Carter Barron, the sorrel-topped right halfback, who will see service against Notre Dame Saturday, is the one to express best the manner in which the outfit is keyed.

The clackety-clack of loaded truck spinning over rail joints seemed to furnish Carter with the idea. "That clackety-clack worries me and excites me at the same time. It seems to say: 'You'll win and you won't—You'll win and you won't.'"

The footballers finally turned in, however, and the unceasing monotonous refrain, "You'll win and you won't—You'll win and you won't," lulled them to sleep.

A Strong Lineup.

Coach Alexander's idea of Saturday's game is expressed most adequately in his starting lineup. There will be Johnny Marshall, the young man who almost shattered tradition at Grant field last Saturday by catching a forward pass over the goal line for a touchdown, on one end of the line, and on the other will be the old familiar Crowley.

Mock, Tharpe, captain, and "Papa" Lillard, the youngster who performed so well against Washington and Lee, and Tom Angley, suffering a pleasurable loss of weight from a slight attack of malaria, but still the war horse Angley, will line up on each side of Pund at center to complete the line.

Pool is still out of active service, but he is among those present on the Golden Tornado special. If he will see service, however, it will have to be decided later.

The Regular Backs.

Then the backfield. The ploughing, plunging Carter Barron will be in his accustomed position, right halfback, and his running mate in the opposite halfback position will be young Bob Parham. McLaue will call signals at quarterback, and Murray will complete the field at fullback.

This lineup, with the exception of Firpo Martin, whose job is for the

Bush Will Have Supreme Command, Declares Dreyfuss

Pittsburgh, October 28.—(AP)—There will be unbridled authority on the Pittsburgh National league baseball club next season.

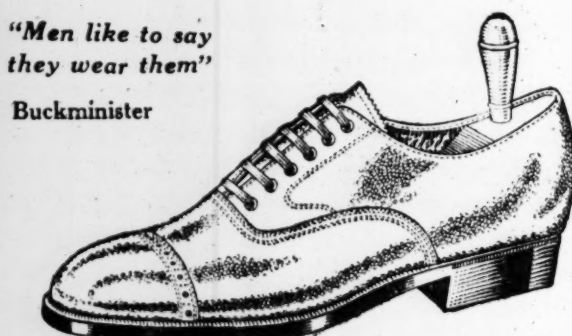

So declares Barney Dreyfuss, president of the club, in announcing that Donie Bush, brought from Indianapolis to succeed the departed Bill McKelvie as manager, will be in supreme command of the Pirates next year.

Bush will have no advisers—or any interference from any one,—Dreyfuss intimated.

Dreyfuss' announcement as to the policy to be followed in the next campaign follows hard upon the resignation of Fred C. Clarke, as vice president and director of the club and adviser to McKelvie during the early part of the 1926 pennant race. Clarke relinquished his place on the bench after some of the Pirate veterans objected to having "two managers."

Declaring that "if we have a new vice president, I'll be it," Dreyfuss added that the sole direction of the club will be in Bush's hands and "he is free to do as he pleases."

The club's board of directors were to meet today to take action on Clarke's resignation.

Atlanta To Invite Dairy Exposition Here for 1927

Plans to bring the 1927 National Dairy show to Georgia were discussed at a conference of agricultural leaders in the office of the Georgia association, was announced Thursday.

Unanimous action was taken at the conference to the effect that the best solution of the economic situation in Georgia is for all forces in the state to combine to strengthen the dairy, poultry and general live stock industries in the state.

Many of those present at the conference attended the recent national dairy show in Detroit and they were unanimous in the opinion that there was opportunity, with proper follow-up of this effort, of bringing many experienced northern dairy farmers to Georgia. They urged that every effort be made to obtain more adequate credit facilities to equip Georgia farms with dairy cattle and other live stock, from which a regular income can be obtained, and that such action would automatically solve some of the economic problems alleged to exist.

Among speakers at the meeting were Judge John S. Candler, a member of the National Dairy association and one of the best known Guernsey breeders in the United States; Henderson Hallman, representing the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Joe Lawrence, of Ashburn, Ga.; R. W. Parker, president of the Kiwanis club, of Madison, Ga.; J. F. Jackson, agricultural agent, of the Central of Georgia Railroad company; W. L. Collier, agricultural and marketing agent of the A. B. & A. Railroad company, and E. S. Candler, Jr., agricultural agent of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad company. Each of the above named men spoke on various phases of the industry.

It was reported that the directors of the national dairy show would decide on the location of the 1927 show at a meeting in Chicago, on December 3, and a special committee was appointed to confer with state officials and officers of the Southeastern Fair association with reference to conditions under which the exposition might be staged.

HART COUNTY FARMER IS SHOT TO DEATH

Royston, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—W. L. Attaway, a farmer living three miles east of Royston, was shot and killed Wednesday night, and officers claim his 18-year-old son, Harold, did the shooting.

According to reports of officers, the son interfered when Attaway was attempting to attack his wife. Attaway was a prominent citizen of Hart county.

Dr. Hardman Named To Receive Plant For Egg Contest

Athens, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Dr. L. G. Hardman, democratic nominee for governor of Georgia, will receive the plant for the Georgia National Egg Laying contest at the State College of Agriculture here Saturday. Major John S. Cohen of The Atlanta Journal will make the presentation.

Other prominent Georgians will make addresses at the formal opening of the plant which launches the contest, including H. M. Atkinson, of the Georgia Railway & Power company; Chancellor C. M. Snelling, Dr. Andrew M. Soule, John E. Talmadge, of Athens, and Eugene Talmadge.

ATHENS MAN NAMED ON OPTOMETRY BOARD

Athens, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Dr. J. L. Pendley, of Athens, has been appointed a member of the state board of optometry examiners. His appointment expires in 1929.

TAX LITIGATION WON BY HAVERTY COMPANY

Finding for the defendant in error, the United States circuit court of appeals Thursday directed the return of between $4,000 and $5,000 in income taxes alleged to have been illegally collected from the Haverty Furniture company, according to a notice received by the district attorney's office from the clerk of the court.

The decision of the court of appeals in affirming the judgment of Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley in the case may have a far-reaching effect on tremendous amounts of money involved in similar cases, the district attorney's office indicated upon receipt of the information.

The Haverty company filed suit against J. T. Rose, income tax collector for the Georgia district, for recovery of income taxes alleged to have been illegally collected. The Haverty company claimed that it was entitled to reduction for repairs, while the tax commissioner held that the repairs formed a capital expenditure and, therefore, the company was liable for the taxes. The company won in federal court, and the tax collector filed an appeal in circuit court.

Appeal was perfected Thursday by the district attorney for J. T. Rose, tax collector, in the case of the Nunnally Investment company against the United States, involving a suit for refund of excise tax alleged to have been illegally collected. Judge Sibley having found in a non-jury trial for the Nunnally Investment company.

The Nunnally Investment company claimed in its suit for a refund that it is a holding company and is not doing business and, therefore, is not liable for the tax. The amount of taxes involved is approximately $9,000, and Judge Sibley found for the company in the sum of $4,000, the tax collector filing an appeal which was perfected Thursday.

FELTON TO TALK TO CIVITAN CLUB ON LOAN SUBJECT

Walter F. Felton, of the Columbia Building and Loan association, will be principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon of the Civitan club today at 12:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Athletic club.

Mr. Felton will speak on "Building Loans." Harry Root, president of the club, will preside.

Afternoon Mail Route Established From North Georgia

Dahlonega, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Starting on November 8, Dahlonega, Burleson, Dawsonville, Cumming, Alpharetta and Roswell will have an afternoon mail to Atlanta. A car will leave Dahlonega at 4 p. m., taking rural mail from here to Atlanta, reaching there 18 hours earlier than at present.

GETS GANG SENTENCE ON STABBING CHARGE

Barney Morris, jointly indicted with E. L. Morris, on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with the stabbing of Chester Dixon, 24, of a South Forsyth street address, on May 22, was found guilty by jury in Judge D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court Thursday and was sentenced to serve from three to five years on the chain-gang.

E. L. Morris was convicted on June 25 on the charge and was also given a sentence of from three to five years.

Due to the fact that Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson, who was to prosecute the case for the state, had to attend an extradition hearing before Governor Clifford Walker at the same time the case was called, Judge John D. Humphries appointed D. K. Johnson, Atlanta attorney, to prosecute the case for the state.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE TO MEET AT MIDVILLE

Swainsboro, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—The second day's session of the A. M. E. conference, holding its annual sessions in Mt. Moriah church here, Bishop J. S. Plummer presiding, opened with religious exercises conducted by Revs. W. F. Slaughter, G. W. Walker and L. B. Harris.

The secretary read the journal of the previous day's session and upon correction by G. H. Payne and J. P. Dutchie the same was adopted. The bishop announced the transfer of W. O. Evans from the South Georgia conference to the Augusta conference; C. D. Dickson from the American conference to the North Georgia conference. The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society reported $1,263 raised for foreign and home funds. The electoral college of this conference will meet at Midville, Ga., in 1929.

Presiding elders' districts show an increase in membership. The educational anniversary will be held Friday night, the speakers for the occasion being J. H. Lewis, president of Morris Brown university; Dr. J. C. Lawrence, president of Central Park college; Dr. W. G. Alexander, dean of Turner theological seminary, and Dr. W. F. Roddie, chairman of the $1,000,000 drive.

W. S. Wilson will present the class of deacons for ordination. P. L. Jackson reported today on deeds and G. W. Thornton read the report on missions Thursday night.

The publication department is well represented by Rev. J. T. Wilkinson, presiding elder of the Athens district.

THOMASVILLE HOTEL TO BE REBUILT SOON

Thomasville, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—The Three Tons tavern, famous as a southern tourist hotel, which burned Thursday night, will be rebuilt. Workmen were on the job to clear off the debris at an early hour this morning.

The plan is to complete a fire resistant building of tile by January 1. The community has pledged every agency to the rebuilding, and enthusiasm is manifested over this proposition than any that has engaged Thomasville for some years.

It is expected to complete the hotel for occupancy, January 1, so as to take care of reservations that have been already made. Workmen, in three shifts, will be on the job at every hour of the day and night to accomplish it.

Mrs. Katherine Pinckney, the manager is in Thomasville.

ATHENS Y. M. C. A. PLANS CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

Athens, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—Aunt Nix, well-known attorney, has been named general chairman of the annual fund campaign of the Athens Y. M. C. A. The campaign begins next month.

Elephant Puzzle Game

A Good Time, Folks!
Lots of Fun for Everyone!

Young People---Middle-Aged
People---Old People

Add 'Em Up and Win $2,000

First Award $2,000---Second Award $1,000, and 28 Other All Cash Awards
Win $2,000 CASH---No One Has a Better Chance Than YOU

THE PROBLEM:

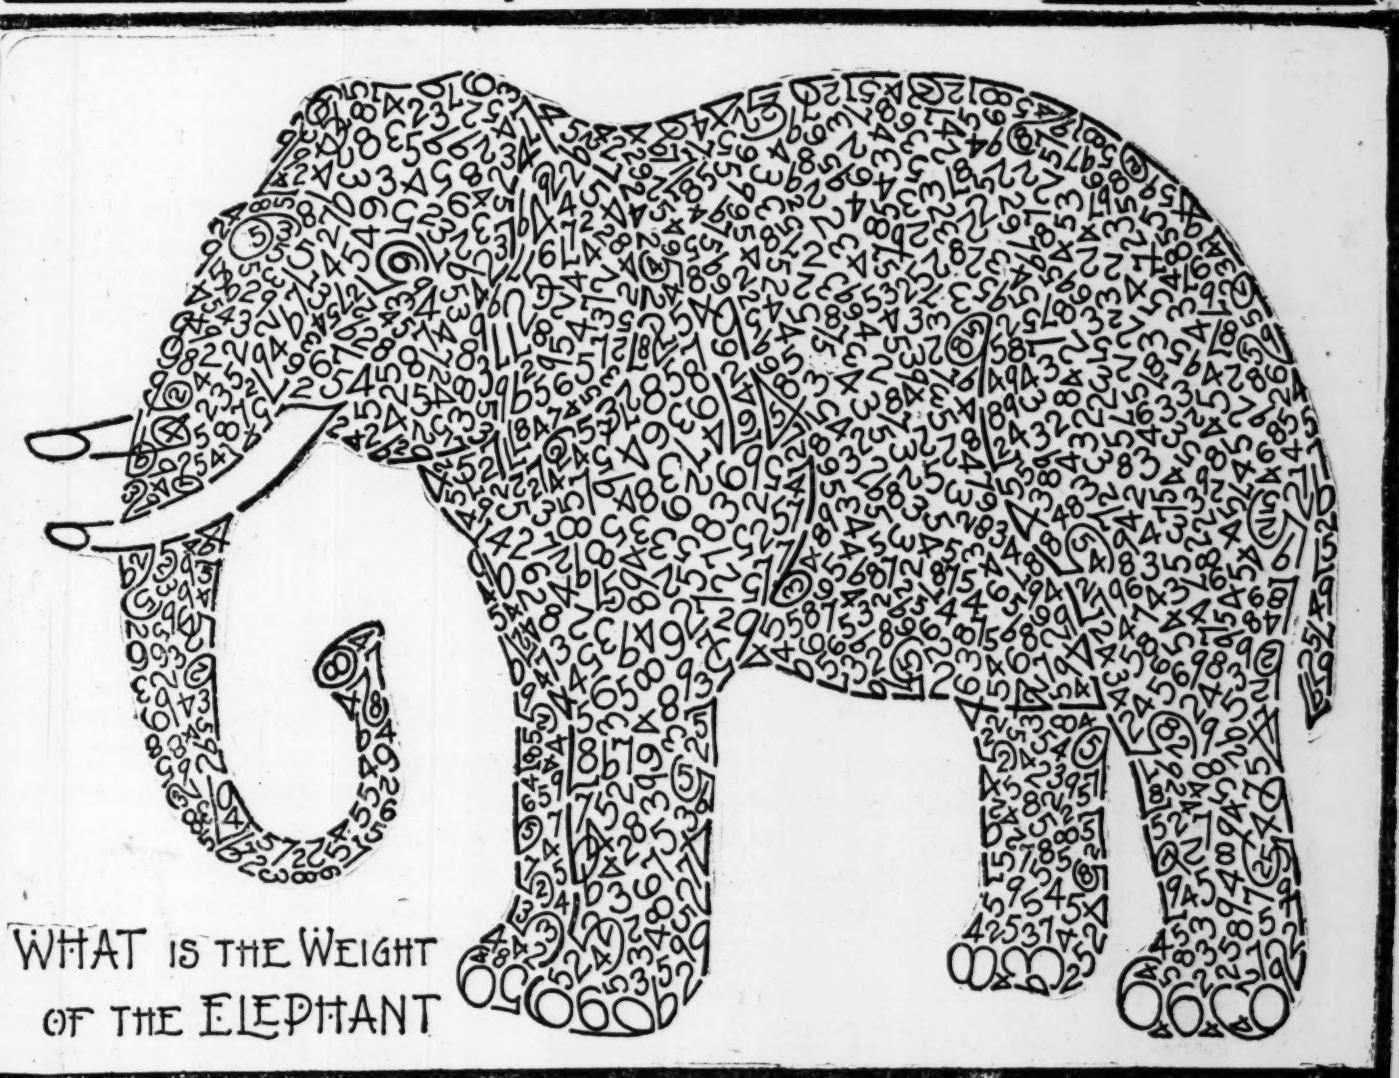

What is the sum total of the figures forming the elephant? Simply add them up to get the solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or "tens." There are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

Here Is The Constitution's Elephant Picture Puzzle

Add 'Em Up

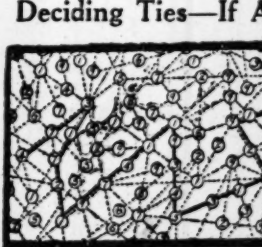

WHAT IS THE WEIGHT OF THE ELEPHANT

General Rules of The Contest

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, east and middle Tennessee, may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution, members of their families, and those who have won first and second awards in similar contest conducted by The Constitution.
2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the four amounts designated in the award list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. (Once registered a solution cannot be changed.)
3. The Atlanta Constitution offers three awards for individual effort. While it is proper for men, women, or several friends, to get together and work on a solution, only one solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to refund the amount of money paid for subscriptions and return the solution if it has been submitted contrary to the rules.
4. The Atlanta Constitution is to decide the solution of the puzzle. When a solution is submitted, it is entered in the contest, and is not covered by the published rules, and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.
5. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to the Atlanta Constitution office on or before 9 o'clock Saturday, November 27, 1928. Solutions sent by mail must be postmarked that date will be accepted. If rules governing name are complied with, this contest extends to Sunday, October 27, to Sunday, November 27, 1928. Five days will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger award to do so, after which no further qualifying solutions will be accepted.
6. In case of tie, as many awards will be given as there are people tied. Before any awards are awarded for the puzzle, another puzzle will be submitted to the Atlanta Constitution. That is, if two or more people should tie on the first puzzle, the first two or more awards will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded the one of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. If ties still result, as many as five tie-breaking puzzles will be used, after which should ties still result, each contestant will receive the full value of the prize tied for.
7. This contest is open to both new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $2.00 for three months, $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months for the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscription not accepted in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent no commission can be deducted. In column five of prize list six months subscriptions referred to means someone who is not now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, directly or indirectly, and has not within the past sixty days, and such new six months subscriptions must be confined to Georgia or adjoining states.
8. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring directly to The Constitution the three, six or twelve months payment with the solution. Whoever is paid to him, as the remittance sent us will date from the date it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payment. If all arrears are not paid the solution will not be considered valid. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from the present paid date of expiration.
9. A person who is not a contestant for the puzzle will be permitted to send a solution, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures, like the one accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary, this chart will be used five times, after which, should any five remain, each contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.
10. In case there are no ties on contesting the elephant no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

Deciding Ties—If Any

In case of tie there will be no prize for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures, like the one accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary, this chart will be used five times, after which, should any five remain, each contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.

Actual Size, 11x7 inches.

CLOSING DATE

The Great ELEPHANT PUZZLE CONTEST will close 9:00 P. M., Saturday, November 27, 1928.

The earlier you send in your solution, the longer time you will have to go over your figures and send in another solution IF YOU FIND YOU CAN DO BETTER. Additional charts may be secured by calling at the Circulation Department, or sending a self-addressed stamped envelope for mailing them.

No Solution Can Be Changed After It Has Been Once Registered

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the first nine awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the award list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

Visitors Honored By Miss Smith.

Miss Sarah Smith entertained at a tea Thursday afternoon at her home on St. Charles avenue in compliment to Miss Rosa Harbin of Rome, and Miss Janet Mott of Scranton, Pa. Guests of Miss Mary McCarthy, Mrs. Frank Smith and Miss Alice Smith assisted the hostess in receiving.

Miss Erwin Weds Mr. Lowry in Asheville.

Asheville, N. C., October 28.—The marriage of Miss Sara Melville Erwin, of this city, niece of Dr. E. L. Connelly, of Atlanta, and Lower Bailey Lowry, of Tampa, Fla., at Central Methodist church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, was characterized by impressiveness and rare beauty. Dr. O. J. Chandler was the officiating minister.

Dr. Blackman Lowry, of Tampa, was his brother's best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Henderson Carter, Emma Pons, John Pratt, John Bell and Samuel Bucklow, of Tampa, and Dr. Frank Saunders, George Robertson, William Hester and Belknap Bourne, of Asheville.

Miss Mary Virginia Erwin, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Mrs. Herbert R. Merrill, eldest sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Jane MacRae, Miss Hannah Weaver, Miss Gertrude Mott, Miss Sue Hall Erwin, youngest sister of the bride, all of Asheville, and Miss Louise Woodward, of Wilson, N. C., and Miss Elizabeth Trammell, of Greensboro, N. C. The bride entered with her father, Marcus Erwin, who gave her in marriage, and they were followed by the groom and his best man.

The bride's beauty was enhanced by her exquisite gown of white tulle, made with full scalloped skirt finished with a deep transparent hem of white tulle, reaching ankle length. Sprays of hand-made tulle flowers outlined the neck line and were caught here and there on the skirt. Her veil of misty white tulle was confined to her hair cap effect, applied with points and fastened in graceful lengths to form a train. Her only ornament was a bracelet of platinum, set with diamonds and sapphires, and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white bride roses showered with valley lilies, in a quaint lace holder.

An informal reception followed the church ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, the guests including only the bridal party, out-of-town guests, relatives and a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowry will leave for a motor trip north and after two weeks will return to Asheville for a short visit, before going to Tampa, where they will be at home to their friends in the Yorkshires Arms apartments, on Verne street.

Wilkinson-Fore Wedding Is Beautiful Afternoon Event

A beautiful wedding taking place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock was that of Miss Harriett Wilkinson and Albert Fore, Jr., which was solemnized at the home of the bride's father, Dr. E. L. Connelly, in the presence of her mother, Mrs. Connelly, and many guests. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Connelly, and the wedding was a most beautiful and impressive affair.

The bride was artistically decorated with a profusion of chrysanthemums, a color note of yellow and white being carried out in palms and ferns were placed in attractive arrangement, and before the fireplace in the living room was an improvised altar heaped with white palms and ferns. Placed among the greenery, in tall, white baskets, were giant white chrysanthemums, alternating with white cathedral candelabra in brass holders. Southern smiles garlanded the chandeliers and doorways.

Proceeding the service Mrs. Thad Morrison played a selection of musical music, and at the approach of the wedding party played the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

First to enter was Miss Harriett Anne Baylor, maid of honor, who was gown in yellow georgette trimmed with a deep collar, and the skirt in tulle. She carried a lovely bouquet of flowers in the pastel shades.

Little Miss Winifred Wilkinson and Master Joe Wilkinson, flower girls and ring bearers, and both were dressed in white.

The bride, in marriage by her brother, Charlie Wilkinson, and entering with him, was met at the altar by the groom and Clyde Fore, of Silver City, N. C., who acted as his best man. She wore a lovely gown of midnight blue trimmed in coral rose fallie, and tiny silver buckles. Her hat was of metal cloth in rose and blue, and had as a trimming a beautiful rhinestone ornament. Her coat of chapel red was trimmed in beaver fur and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, orchids and lilies of the valley showered with valley lilies.

Following the ceremony the guests were entertained at an informal reception at the home. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Earle Saunders, Mrs. Eugene Cox, Mrs. Chancellor Thornton and Mrs. Eva Thornton.

Mrs. Wilkinson wore a lovely gown of flesh georgette trimmed in crystals and pearls. Mrs. Garry Baylor, sister of the bride, was gown in rose georgette with an attractive trimming of rose velvet.

Miss Cornie Fore wore blue crepe trimmed in beads, and Miss Elizabeth Fore wore a gown in blue georgette and silver.

Serving punch were Miss Shirley Walcott and Miss Dorothy Veach. Mrs. Veach wore rose crepe, and Miss Veach wore gown in pink georgette.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Fore left on a wedding trip for the east. Their return about November 15, they will be at home at 31 Thirteenth street, N. E.

Mrs. Fore is very popular, and a young woman with a charming personality. For the past three years she has been executive secretary for the Civitan club.

Fashions Sketched by Kay

Today I have sketched for you one of Muse's smart sport coats. They have so many from which to choose that it was rather difficult to decide which one to show you. But I have selected a novelty plaid imported woolen, in brown and tan combination with brown fox collar. The sport coat has a definite place in the well-dressed woman's wardrobe. It is to be done time and time again throughout the whole year, and is indispensable in this climate. Wouldn't you have liked one yesterday? And what is so chic for the football games, polo matches, or motor? KAY.

Mrs. Royster Arrives Tuesday To Visit Mrs. T. P. Hinman

Mrs. William S. Royster, of Norfolk, Va., will arrive in Atlanta next Tuesday to visit Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman at her home on East Fifteenth street. Mrs. Royster is a cordial welcome from a large circle of Atlanta friends, with a perfect round of social gaieties planned in her honor. Mrs. Royster, who was formerly Miss Ethel Kelly, of Atlanta, is a leader in the exclusive social life of Norfolk, and this is her first visit here in several years.

Mrs. Hinman has issued invitations for a buffet luncheon Wednesday, November 3, the guests including a number of the married set of society invited to meet Mrs. Royster. Mrs. Edwin A. Peoples luncheon Thursday, November 4, will compliment this attractive visitor, and will a wemble a small group of former friends of the Royster family meet her upon this informal occasion.

Mrs. Mitchell King's luncheon at the Biltmore Friday, November 5, will have Mrs. Royster as the central figure. She will be entertained at a small party at the tea-dance at the Biltmore Saturday afternoon, November 6, following the Tech-Vanderbilt football game.

Mrs. A. D. Adair's luncheon Tuesday, November 9, given at her home on Peachtree road, will have Mrs. Royster for guest of honor, and a group of close friends will be invited to meet her at this informal affair.

Other social events are planned for Mrs. Royster, the dates to be announced later.

Miss Hogan Weds Luther Knight.

Dacula, Ga., October 28.—A wedding which came as a surprise to their friends was that of Miss Hogan and Luther Knight.

HUGH GOLDSMITH MAKING RECORD AT PHILIBOSIAN'S

Mr. Hugh Goldsmith, who has been a familiar figure in retail furniture circles in Atlanta for many years, is now associated with Stephen Philibosian, Inc., at 651 Peachtree street, and is making a splendid record with this concern.

Mr. Goldsmith not only has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances in Atlanta, but during his long service in this city he has sold furniture and home furnishings to people in many sections of the Southeast.

Furniture salesmen are as well qualified to assist the purchaser in making selections best adapted to their individual needs. His years of experience, combined with extraordinary natural ability and good taste, make his service of invaluable aid to the prospective buyer of furniture, rugs or draperies.

Mr. Goldsmith is thoroughly convinced that the cash policy of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., is a big benefit to the public.

"Never before," he says, "in my long experience in selling furniture have I seen such distinctive merchandise offered at such low prices."

"Our large and varied stock make it possible for the average family, as well as the wealthy, to make satisfactory selections here at a big saving."

"Our growing business certainly proves that Mr. Philibosian has convinced the public that it pays to pay cash for furniture and household furnishings."—(adv.)

Miss Latham and Mr. Hicks Wed At Lovely Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Lathem and Henry Joseph Hicks, of Lakeland, Fla., was solemnized Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Druid Hills Methodist church in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The Rev. J. W. Quillen performed the ceremony and prior to the marriage service an appropriate musical program was rendered by Miss Ethel Boyer, organist; Floyd Jennings, soloist; and George F. Lindner, violinist.

The beautiful color motif of yellow, white and green was carried out in the decorations of the church. At the back of the altar, ferns and foliage plants were bunched. The artistic arrangement of foliage extended to the top of the organ rail. Just outside the chancel, on either side, were floor baskets filled with shaggy yellow and white chrysanthemums. In the center of the altar and at the extreme ends of the altar were seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers. Large bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums marked the pews reserved for the families.

Wedding Party.
The bridesmaids escorted by the groomsmen entered the church first, descending the long aisles in pairs. The maid of honor, Miss Ethel Boyer, Peitcheit, Miss Lela Dean, Mrs. Ken Davidson, Mrs. Jack Hinchey, Miss Caudle, Wadell, Mrs. J. J. Duckworth, Miss Prichett, Mrs. Duckworth and Miss Wadell wore gowns of pink chiffon and Miss Dean, Mrs. Hinchey and Mrs. Davidson were gowned in orchid colored chiffon. Their gowns were fashioned alike with close fitting bodices and full skirts, trimmed with applique taffeta flowers to match their costumes. They carried bouquets of pink roses and lavender ageratum.

The groomsmen included Aaron Allen, Bob Pitts, George Hicks, of Lakeland, Fla.; F. L. Johnston, of Woodstock, Ga.; Key Davidson, of Lithonia, and Arthur J. Brooks. The maid of honor and matron of honor, Miss Lathem and Mrs. J. J. Duckworth, entered together. Miss Lathem's gown was fashioned of orchid chiffon and Mrs. Lathem wore a gown of pink chiffon. The full skirts were made entirely of narrow chiffon ruffles piped in silver. The tight bodices were embroidered in rhinestones and they carried shoulder bouquets of pink roses and valley lilies. They were followed by the two little flower girls, Miss Jean McArthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McArthur, and Miss Carol Lathem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lathem.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

CORTES HAD WITNESSED THE HUMAN SACRIFICES OF THE AZTECS UNTIL HIS BLOOD REVOLVED, NOT SO MUCH AT THE KILLING, FOR THAT WAS HIS TRADE, TOO, BUT BECAUSE HIS RELIGIOUS NATURE WAS DISTURBED TO SEE THESE PEOPLE WORSHIPPING IDOLS. THEREFORE, HE DETERMINED TO EXPLAIN THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION FURTHER. HE CALLED THE PRIESTS BEFORE HIM AND EXHORTED THEM TO ABANDON THEIR SUPERSTITIOUS RELIGION, TO PURIFY THEIR ALTARS, TO STOP HUMAN SACRIFICE AND TO DEDICATE THEMSELVES TO THE TRUE GOD AND THE SAINTS.

THE PRIESTS DEFENDED THEIR RELIGION AND A CONTROVERSY RAGED UNTIL CORTES, LOSING ALL CONTROL, BEGAN SMASHING THE IDOLS RIGHT AND LEFT WITH MAGNIFICENT FURY, EVEN OVERTURNING THEM. IN HONOR THE PRIESTS NOTIFIED MONTESUMA WHO CAME AND ENTREATED HIM, FOR PRUDENCE SAKE, NOT TO BRING ABOUT AN UPRISING OF THE PEOPLE.

NEVERTHELESS, THE IDOLS WERE NOW CAST OUT, THE TEMPLE WASHED UP AND TWO CHRISTIAN ALTARS SET UP. MASS WAS SAID. SOME OF THE AZTECS ATTENDED THE CEREMONY, AS THEY BADLY WANTED RAIN AND WERE WILLING TO GIVE THE GOD OF THE SPANIARDS A CHANCE TO BRING IT. THE AUDACIOUS CORTES DECLARED THEY SHOULD HAVE IT. AND, WITH CONFIDENT FAITH, ORDERED PRAYERS FOR RAIN AND, CURIOUSLY ENOUGH, AS THE PROCESSION RETURNED FROM MASS, RAIN POURED FROM THE HEAVENS IN SHEETS. THIS VINDICATED THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION AND INCREASED CORTES' PRESTIGE.

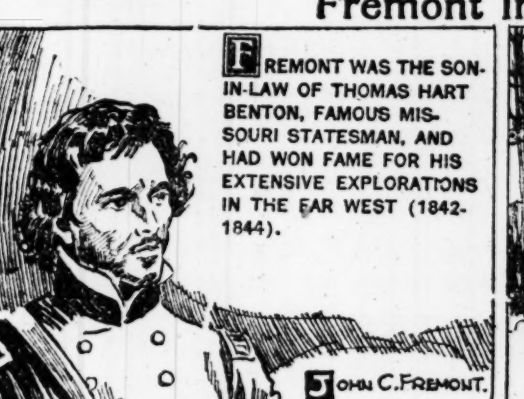

IT WAS, HOWEVER, INEVITABLE THAT THE PRESTIGE OF THE SPANIARDS SHOULD DIMINISH AS THEY BECAME BETTER KNOWN. ALTHOUGH EXTRAORDINARILY FEARLESS, AND ARMED WITH INVINCIBLE WEAPONS, THE AZTECS NOW KNEW THAT AFTER ALL THE SPANIARDS WERE JUST MEN, WITH THEIR FULL SHARE OF THE WORST QUALITIES OBSERVABLE IN HUMAN NATURE, AND THEIR HORSES JUST DOG-LE, WELL-TRAINED ANIMALS. WITH THIS CHANGED VIEW OF THE SPANIARDS AND THE DESTRUCTION OF THE IDOLS, THE ATTITUDE OF THE MEXICANS UNDERWENT A MARKED CHANGE. NO LONGER COULD THE SPANIARDS AWE THEM.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

ON THE WAY TO CALIFORNIA, COLONEL KEARNEY WAS MET BY KIT CARSON, THE FAMOUS SCOUT, WITH THE NEWS THAT THE MEXICAN PROVINCE WAS IN THE POSSESSION OF THE AMERICANS. THE CONQUEST OF CALIFORNIA HAD BEEN LARGELY DUE TO THE EFFORTS OF CAPTAIN JOHN C. FREMONT.

IN 1845 FREMONT (HE WAS POPULARLY CALLED "THE PATH-FINDER") WAS SENT BY OUR GOVERNMENT TO INVESTIGATE THE MEXICAN POSSESSIONS ON THE PACIFIC COAST. LATER FREMONT WENT TO OREGON.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN MAY, 1846, HE RECEIVED A VERBAL MESSAGE FROM SECRETARY OF STATE BUCHANAN THAT THE UNITED STATES INTENDED TO OCCUPY CALIFORNIA, AND ORDERING HIM TO PROCEED TO THAT TERRITORY TO ESTABLISH FRIENDLY RELATIONS WITH THE INHABITANTS.

REACHING CALIFORNIA, FREMONT LEARNED THAT THE MEXICANS WERE PREPARING TO DRIVE OUT ALL AMERICANS. THE AMERICANS BANDED TOGETHER AND AT FREMONT'S ORDERS THE TOWN OF SONOMA WAS CAPTURED (JUNE 14, 1846), AND THE BEAR FLAG OF THE "CALIFORNIA REPUBLIC" UNFURLED.

Gift of $25 Made At Meeting Of College Park Club

The College Park Woman's club met Wednesday afternoon at the College Park city hall, Mrs. Oscar Palmer presiding.

During an interesting business session which preceded the program Mrs. J. D. Gray, chairman of education, explained the Tallulah Falls circle plan and presented the club with 25 new one-dollar bills, these having been donated on a silver tray and borne to the president's desk by little Miss Mary Louise Palmer, the youngest member of the Tallulah Falls committee. This gift of $25 was made by Mrs. William J. Mills and Mrs. Gray, who were successful in winning a number of prizes for their beautiful culinary entries at the Southeastern fair.

Mrs. W. E. Lottspeich, chairman of arts and crafts, presented a collection of hats, which was the second prize won by her committee for the best club booth at the Southeastern fair.

Vocalists in both dressmaking and interior decorating will begin soon, Mrs. J. W. Stephenson and Mrs. T. H. Porch as chairmen.

Mrs. Alice Cox has played two Chopin selections—Prelude in D flat opus 28, No. 15 and waltz in A flat opus 32.

Mr. Wayne Moore, chairman of the Atlanta Girl Scout council, introduced Mrs. L. O. Freeman, a former president of the club, who gave an address on the work of the Girl Scout council.

Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. B. W. Martin also a former president of the College Park club, gave an interesting outline of the state federation's activities for the past year.

A social hour was enjoyed at the conclusion of the program. Mrs. L. M. Love, social chairman, was assisted in serving coffee by Mrs. C. W. Everts and Mrs. Beverly Fritcheit.

Mrs. Charles Goodman will act as chairman for Friday at the High Museum of Art, and assisting her will be Mrs. Gilbert Frazer, Miss Virginia Hardin, Mrs. A. Davis, Mrs. Hal M. Davidson, Mrs. B. W. Martin, Elizabeth A. King, Mrs. J. L. Lylich, Mrs. J. H. Matheson, Mrs. Pearl Moezley Gay, Miss Eleanor Gay and Mrs. Henry L. Collier.

H. B. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barilli, Sr., Lewis H. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Rose, Mrs. J. W. Stephens, Leroy Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Wilkins and Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Jones, Sr., will serve on the Friday evening, October 30, at the High Museum of Art, and assisting her will be Mrs. J. M. Van Harlingen will be co-chairmen.

Debutantes Attend Biltmore Dance.
The dinner-dance Wednesday evening at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel assembled a number of debutantes and members of the young set as well as a group of visitors. Dancing and dinner was enjoyed in the grill room of the hotel from 12 o'clock to 1 o'clock. Miss Louise Carson, of Evansville, Ind., the guest of Miss Peggy Porter; Miss Irene Clinton, of San Francisco, Cal., the guest of Miss Catherine Orme, and Miss Janet Mott, of Scranton, Pa., the guest of Miss Sara Hurt, and Miss Mary McCarty were all the central figures in parties.

Among others present were Misses Virginia Torrence, Mary Jernigan, Bessie White, Jeannette Bailey, Isabel Levenhew, Sara Hart, Henrietta Mikel, Anne Lane Newell, Clara Belle King, Mark Orme, Yolande Gwin, Kitty Park, Mary Preacher, Nell Clayton, Virginia Howard and many others.

WOMAN AND CHILDREN BRUISED IN COLLISION
Mrs. J. A. Cook, of 847 Lake avenue, was treated at Grady hospital Thursday morning for injuries received in an automobile accident at Ashland avenue and Ashland drive, according to police and hospital reports.

Mrs. Cook was riding in an automobile driven by N. B. Bagley, of Decatur, which collided with a car driven by C. C. Van Pelt, of Brookhaven.

Neither of the drivers was hurt, but Mrs. Cook's two children were shaken up and slightly bruised in the collision. The accident was investigated by Call Officers H. P. Sibley and J. G. Ergle. No case was made.

DAILY CALENDAR WOMEN'S MEETINGS

The October meeting of the Fine Arts club of Decatur will be held at 3 o'clock in Propleyan hall, Agnes Scott college.

The Tech High Parent-Teacher association will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the school.

The regular business meeting of the Woodward Avenue Baptist Sunday school will be held at 3 o'clock at 385 Cherokee avenue, S. E. Mrs. T. J. Counts, Mrs. E. L. Shepard and Mrs. J. R. Hadden being joint hostesses.

Mrs. M. D. Farnham, chairman of the junior department of the Atlanta Woman's club, announces a meeting of the young ladies of the senior group to be held at 3:30 o'clock in the clubhouse.

The Witches' club will hold a memorial service at 3 o'clock at the Eliza Manget home for the late Mrs. Viola Gray Ivy.

The opening of the cafeteria of the Iman Park school, donated by the Junior Red Cross, will take place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The opening meeting of the Orpheus Music club will be held in hall No. 2 of the Chamber of Commerce building this evening.

Golden Eaglet To Be Presented To Miss Newbury

The rally at Camp Civitania Saturday, October 30, will be the climax of the Atlanta Girl Scout "Good Cheer Week."

Special features of the day will be the presentation of the golden eaglet to Scout Josephine Newbury, and dedication of the new hut, the gift of J. R. Cleveland, a member of the Civitania club. The intertroop contest will begin promptly at 11 o'clock. Troops will compete in fire building, bandaging, knot making, knot games and relays and pacing for troop points.

Immediately after the games Atlanta's six golden eaglets will be presented to Scout Josephine Newbury by Mrs. Frank D. Holland for the golden eaglet award. This is the highest award given in scouting.

Dorothy Fugitt and Marion Fugitt will be awarded each a letter of commendation from the national board in recognition of fine scout spirit shown during the period of their membership as scouts.

A picnic dinner will be served at 1 o'clock. The dedication of the hut will take place at 2:30 o'clock.

The special guests invited are the Girl Scout council and advisory board, Citizens, Miss Sarah Ezell, of the Girl Scout council, Miss Louisa Carson, Camp Fire executive; Boy Scout executives, and representatives from the Debutante club, the Junior League and Woman's club.

For any girls who have not arranged for transportation, a conveyance will be at the corner of North avenue and West Peachtree street at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning if places are reserved at Girl Scout headquarters on Friday, or with Miss Adelaide Nelson, Hemlock 5635-W.

122d Regiment Dance Will Be at Biltmore Tonight.

One of the most interesting events this evening will be the dinner-dance at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel at which officers of the 122d infantry, Atlanta's Own, and their wives will be host, honoring the officers and wives of the fourth corps area headquarters and officers and wives of Fort McPherson.

The band of the 122d infantry and the orchestra of the Biltmore hotel will furnish the music.

Charles A. Cox, adjutant general of Georgia, who also is commanding officer of the 122d infantry, and members of his staff and other of-

HIGHWAY TO ATHENS WILL OPEN SATURDAY

The highway between Atlanta and Athens, Ga., will be open and all motorists who go to Athens Saturday to attend for "homecoming day" at the University of Georgia will find the highway in a much better condition than at any time during the past few weeks, highway department heads said Thursday.

The road is under construction near Tucker, it was stated, but will be ready for traveling Saturday.

Unusually heavy traffic over the road is expected for the annual home coming day, a feature of which will be the football game between University of Georgia and University of Florida.

PLAYGROUND TO STAGE HALLOWEEN PROGRAM
Today has been dubbed officially in playground circles of Atlanta as "Halloween day," and thousands of children will engage in observance of the event with dances and parties. Four of the play centers have already held their parties. These are Cochran, Exposition, Key and Forrest.

Those which will celebrate today are Candler, East Atlanta, Grant, Piedmont, Bessie Branham, Mimms, Joyner, Dargatz, Adair, Mosley, Chosewood, Washington and Morris Brown.

Advise Women

to adopt new hygienic method and retain freshness this way; true protection; discards like tissue

LARGELY on medical advice, women are abandoning the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new way that supplants uncertainty with positive protection.

Sheer frocks and ill-timed social engagements no longer remain as worries. Lost days are fewer, and health better.

It is called "KOTEX." Ends the insecurity of the old-time sanitary pad. Five times as absorbent! And odorless—ends ALL fear of offending.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Eight in 10 better-class women employ it. Proves the risk of old ways.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

DORINDA LEAVES THE HOSPITAL.

David pointed out to Dorinda that she was marrying him to improve conditions and not to make them worse.

"I suppose it won't interest you," he said, "but—the cold truth is that you're not playing the game. You haven't played it for one moment since we were married. Your idea seems to be to do anything you want to do, and then apologize for it, and in the next minute or the next day do something else as bad or worse. Last night you said you had learned a lesson. You hadn't. That bunch will give you a black eye we'll never get over. The news of them and their fool stunts will go back to Grandon and be waiting for us when we get home. A nice drive off we'll have from the matrimonial tee after this," he ended bitterly.

"Is that all?"

"No," he said wearily. "But I don't say anything more. What's the use? It doesn't impress you to know that you haven't got the first principles of a sense of decency, or honor, or fair play."

The connecting door slammed behind him as he passed through it, and Dorinda stood where he had left her, staring at the blank white wall, while an uprising of rage surged over her. So that was his chivalry. All he was thinking about was his side of things—his interests, his peace of mind, his standing, his career.

The door opened and the bunch pushed one another into the little room, jostling and shouting as to the proper handling of burdens each carried.

"It's going to be a buffet lunch," Chad explained. "James led us to the cook, and she let us take what was left in the larder—which wasn't much. But it will hold us till dinner time. Look out for the milk, Jim! Kitty, if you drop that salad I'll scalp you. Here, put everything on the table."

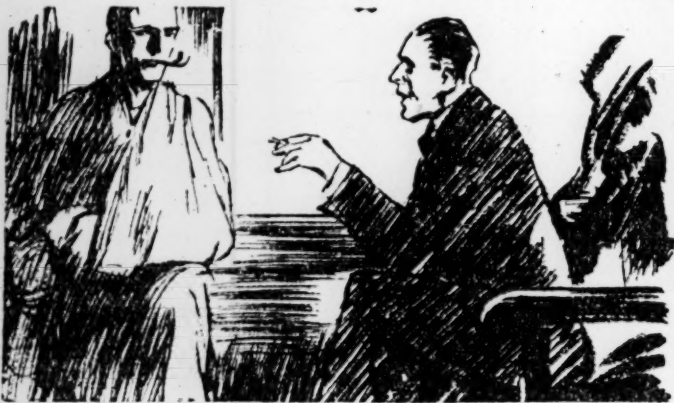

"And remember," Kitty said, "that I am a lady so I need most of the chicken."

"You're not enough of a lady for that," Chad assured her, helping himself to a leg and a wing.

"What's the matter, Dorry?" Jim asked. "Are you really crying again?"

Chad turned from the table and looked at their hostess.

"Of course, she's crying," he announced. "Why shouldn't she cry? I'll wager a dollar to a doughnut her model young man has been raising

"I'm no Adam," Chad began.

Cain because we came here. He's perfectly right, too. I knew from the first it was an idiotic performance. Say the word, Dorry, and we'll leave again on the next train, with or without our chicken."

Dorinda caught his hand and held it. For the moment it seemed to her the one firm support in a reeling world.

"Don't you dare to leave me!" she gulped. "Not one of you must leave this town till you can take me with you."

Bryant sat down at the table and began to butter a roll, and his companions hastened to follow the example.

"We'll stay," he said comfortably. "There's a little hotel in the suburbs called the Blake, of which I have reason to think well. It has only two rules. Guests are expected to bury their own dead, and no one is permitted to take cocaine in the elevator. Something tells me we shall be very comfortable there."

Alone in his own, David listened to the cheerful acclaim which followed this prediction.

The daily express train from Adneyport to Grandon clanked to its destination. In addition to half a dozen coaches, it had a drawing room car with a private section at each end, a baggage car, and a right of way that was abruptly disputed at intervals.

The baggage car contained among other valuables a fiercely resentful white setter puppy traveling in a crate. It also held what was left of Mrs. David Goddard's smart roadster. The drawing room car sheltered in its private compartments what Chad Bailey lightly described as "fall that was left of Mrs. Goddard's matrimonial venture." In one section Mrs. Goddard and Miss Perkins rode, the former stretched out at full length on a couch, the latter facing her in a corner chair, and the mood of both as black as that of Freckles. In the other section Mr. Goddard languished, passing the hours in self-communion and robust refusals of well meaning offers of service made by Mr. Bailey and Mr. Bryant, who frequently lounged in from the smoking car. From all of which it will be clear that young Mrs. Goddard had carried out her announced purpose of keeping the Black Butterflies in Adneyport until she herself was able to accompany them home.

The day was Monday, and not even the determinedly optimistic Mr. Bailey held that the interval between this day and the preceding Friday had been pleasant, though he dwelt earnestly on the excellence of the meals and the comfort of the beds at the Adneyport hotel. David and Dorinda had quietly vetoed the Blake. Their morning, spent in those warmly recommended beds, had been endurable. They had their breakfasts in their respective rooms, an article of their creed that no human being was justified in seeking the society of other human beings on any day or in any conditions till the hour of noon had struck. After that there was the amelioration of a good luncheon, followed by a leisurely lingering over cigars and cigarettes in Kitty's sitting room. But from there on even their elemental sense of responsibility directed them to the hospital as ministers of grace and comfort to their stricken hostess, and by half after nine at night, when they were waved out of her room by an overworked nurse, all three had invariably reached the extreme limit of a self-control not remarkable at its best. The inevitable result was a series of night diversions at the hotel which appalled the management and horrified the town.

There had been, for example, the "old fashioned sleigh ride party," to which, lacking other acquaintances, they had hospitably invited the hotel servants. There was also the extemporaneous Saturday night dance in Kitty's sitting room, overflowing into the upper hall and attended by congenial souls the Butterflies had gathered in from highways and byways. And there was the final exploit of a Sunday night theater party of so boisterous a character that the curtain had to be lowered during the play and the members of the party escorted down the middle aisle to the outer air.

The details of this occasion were given to David by Chad on the train Monday morning.

"I am no Adam," Chad began, "but this time the fault really was the lady's. You know how executive Kitty is—so she usually attends to the details of our parties. As it happened, we didn't get to the theater till the middle of the first act. There was a whole row of seats reserved for us very near the front, for of course we had invited a few friends, and I'm not saying that there wasn't some confusion in getting down the middle aisle, for we were all a bit rusty. I suppose the audience noticed us, and perhaps the company did. Kitty was very particular about getting us into the right seats, and she gave a lot of directions in a clear voice and changed us around two or three times. But we got seated before the act ended, and Kitty and most of the rest of us went to sleep, so everything was serene till the middle of the second act. Then, unfortunately, Kitty woke up, and she decided that we weren't paired off right, so she got all into the middle aisle and seated us over again. We didn't mind, and I don't think the audience did. In fact, one chap in the balcony gave us a rousing cheer. But the star and the company got peevish. So when Kitty woke during the third act, and decided to move us up to the balcony next to the chap that cheered, and we gathered in the aisle to discuss it, we seemed to arouse some hard feelings. Any way, we were all put out. I did my best to explain that it was a mistake and that the company ought to be put out instead, and most of the audience agreed with me. They said so even at the time, and a dozen men told me afterwards that we were a whole lot more entertaining than the show. But some managers are awfully myopic," Chad ended with a sigh.

M'CLINTOCK WILL LEAGUE MEETS

Savannah, Ga., October 28.—(A)—The Georgia League of Women Voters opened its eighth annual convention here this morning, with the national president, Miss Belle Sherwin, of Cleveland, as the guest of honor. Addresses of welcome were extended by the mayor, Robert M. Hull, who, in speaking of the work that could be done by women, cited his appointment of his woman's advisory board.

Mrs. Frank McIntire, the state vice president and a member of the local league extended the welcome from the Savannah members and the response was made by Mrs. Pearl Moseley Gay, of Atlanta.

New York, October 28.—(P)—The cotton market was only moderately active today. Fluctuations were comparatively narrow. January sold up from 12.23 at the opening to 12.40 and closed at 12.30, compared with 12.27 at the close of yesterday. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of 7 to 11 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 8 to 13 points in keeping with relatively firm cables. A little southern selling was readily absorbed around the initial prices, and the market held generally steady during the middle. The small volume of selling from the south was regarded by local traders as indicating an absence of spot pressure in the interior and this view was strengthened by private reports of a firmer spot basis, particularly in the eastern belt.

Buying for both continental and domestic trade account was reported on the dips, while there appeared to be considerable investment buying, as well as covering by local houses. Buyers, however, did not follow up the advances aggressively, and after selling up from 12.22 to 12.30, December, and from 12.61 to 12.75 for March, or about 20 to 22 points net higher, the market eased under profit taking.

Southern selling was a little more active in the last half hour and last prices showed reactions of 10 or 12 points from the best.

Liverpool cables attributed the steadiness to a smaller volume of hedge selling, covering and trade buying, and also reported improved demand for cotton cloths from India. Reports from the local cloth market indicated a better tone with a little more business, which may have helped to steady futures, but the factors chiefly mentioned were the comparatively small volume of southern hedging and the persistency of trade buying on the dips.

Today's spot sales here, as officially reported, were 10,400 bales. Exports today, 27,320, making 2,291,532 so far this season. Port receipts 97,047. U. S. port stocks 2,572,054.

COTTON MARKET QUIET, UNDERSTOODY

New Orleans, October 28.—(P)—The cotton market was quiet today, but the undertone was steady and the general trend of prices was upward, although there were occasional drives against prices by ring traders. There was a marked absence of hedge selling, which was taken to indicate more determination on the part of the interior to withhold offerings. The market started 8 to 11 points higher in sympathy with better cables than due and continued on the upgrade practically all morning on moderate trade buying and short covering until near noon prices showed gains over yesterday's close of 20 to 22 points. During the afternoon prices marked a slight decline, but the dip met the usual trade buying and prices rallied again almost to the highs, but eased off in the final trading. The close showed net gains for the day of 10 to 13 points.

Liverpool came in better than due and first trades here showed gains of 8 to 11 points with December at 12.35, January at 12.41, March at 12.58 and these proved to be the lows of the morning session. The market continued to gain all morning and near noon December traded as high as 12.47, January at 12.53 and March 12.70, or 20 to 22 points above the previous close.

During the afternoon prices reacted under pressure from ring traders and December eased off to 12.33, January to 12.39 and March to 12.54, but they rallied to 12.47, 12.53 and 12.70, or 20 to 22 points above the previous close. These were new lows for the day. In the last hour prices rallied almost to the earlier highs, but lost 10 points of this rally right at the end, closing 6 to 7 points above the lowest.

Exports for the day totaled 37,920 bales.

The Day in Finance

High Priced Rubber and Economy Campaign Responsible for Heavy Inventory Losses.

By R. L. BARNUM

New York, October 28.—Selling of motor shares around noon checked the advance in the stock market, based on the news of the large Steel corporation and General Motors earnings, this week, and the high record for weekly car loadings. Hudson, General Motors and Studebaker were the weakest of the motor shares. Mack Truck, which has had a continued decline, holding firm.

High priced rubber and the rubber economy campaign started by Secretary Hoover, responsible for heavy inventory losses written off by a number of rubber and tire manufacturers from earnings for the first six months of the year.

President Buell, of Great Northern, tells the shareholders in his company that 1926 is going to be a good year. After pointing out that August and September earnings made a new high for these months, Buell says October promises to show a gain over the corresponding period of 1925, when a new high record was made for any one month. He says $10 will be earned this year on the one class of Great Northern stock outstanding, as compared with $8.61 earned for 1925. So far the high estimate for this year's earnings has been $9 a share.

Great Northern Bankers. For months past for some unknown reason Northern Pacific has been selling higher than Great Northern. For the last few days, however, Great Northern has been selling higher. As has frequently been pointed out in this column in recent months railroad men believe Great Northern to be better property than Northern Pacific, despite the fact that the last named has recently been the favorite stock marketwise.

Oil stocks were strong today ignoring the price cut in crude oil resulting from over production of crude. Current earnings of oil companies show that the first nine months of this year have been highly profitable in the face of over production of crude oil. Within the next few weeks with output of oil coming down, there should be a seasonal decline in crude oil production.

Coca-Cola's strength was accompanied by rumors that a sell-off was coming on the part of two new shareholders for one old. These reports caused some covering. A large outstanding short interest in Coca-Cola, which this stock on the theory that the record breaking cotton crop will cause a shrinkage in buying power in parts of the country where sales of Coca-Cola are largest.

Do you know that Adolphe Menjou has a brother? Henry is Adolphe's business manager? Said brother appeared as a head waiter in "A Woman of Paris?" He has never been near a camera from that day till production started on "The Ace of Cads?"

Well, it's all true. Three years have elapsed since Henry dined grease-paint on the face of Adolphe. And he only decided to—but let him speak for himself. "I have never played in anything but great pictures," says Menjou, "and I was in 'A Woman of Paris.' That was great. Now I'm in 'The Ace of Cads.' Your own conclusions."

The Public stage attraction is Paul O'Sullivan's sparkling revue, "Seashore Frolics," a delightful production with a cast of lovely girls led in beautiful bathing suits. An added attraction is Miss Helen York, coloratura soprano.

The Metropolitan.

Richard Barthelmess is scoring a brilliant success in his latest theater this week in his latest First National production "The Amateur Gentleman," which is a film adaptation of Jeffrey Furber's novel. The novel of the same name, and which has been made into a most delightful photoplay, Dorothy Dunbar, youthful actress, and talented leading lady, plays the principal feminine role opposite Barthelmess in the production and is making a very lasting impression upon the Metropolitan patrons.

Coming to Metropolitan.

Jack Mulhall, Johnny Ralston, George Sidney, Vera Gordon and Charles Murray are the prominent screen stars appearing in the new production of the Metropolitan, "Sweet Dances," which will be the stellar attraction at the Metropolitan theater next week.

Confederate Daughters End Statesboro Meeting

MRS. J. J. HARRIS.

Constitution U. D. C. Editor.

Statesboro, Ga., October 28.—The thirty-second annual convention of the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, which has been in session here since Tuesday, closed tonight. Mrs. J. J. Harris, of Statesboro, state president, presided at the sessions. Among the first acts of the body today was the election of the following officers:

Recording secretary, Mrs. Powell Cotter, Barnesville; treasurer, Mrs. Julia C. Lane, Statesboro; and Mrs. Harry Craig, Augusta. These are all of the officers to be elected at this convention.

A number of resolutions were passed by the convention during the morning. A resolution asking the state to appropriate funds for a Stephens memorial at the site of the old McKenney plantation, was adopted.

Another important resolution was the voting of the convention to return what funds had been collected for the Stone Mountain memorial to the various chapters of the U. D. C. which had contributed the money and that the chapters be allowed to send their contributions to the Stone Mountain association should they so desire.

The convention voted to allow the $1000 fund for the Rabun Gap school to be used for the purchase of a new building for the school.

The creation of Jeff Davis highway was also endorsed.

A decided touch of human interest attached itself to the interesting collection of relics brought to the convention. This relic was exhibited by the late president, Mrs. S. G. Lang, of Sandersville. In the collection was a walking cane made from a piece of a fallen soldier's sword.

The last cabinet meeting of the Confederacy was held in the hall where the last cabinet meeting of the Confederacy was held.

Under the leadership of Robert Toombs delivered his memorable speech on the University of Georgia campus in 1820. A fan whirled by a veteran who was 75 years old at the time was also shown.

Much interest centered in a small bag of sulphur carried for good luck and a tiny pin cushion which was removed from the trousers pocket of Alexander H. Stephens at the time of his death when he was governor of Georgia. He was the first president of the Confederacy during the war between the states.

A feature of the Wednesday afternoon session of the convention was a memorial service conducted by Mrs. John A. Perdue.

Mrs. Perdue, who was in charge of the memorial service, had arranged by members of various chapters that the memorial service be held at the residence of Mrs. John A. Perdue.

A report of Rabun Gap school by Mrs. E. A. Caldwell, of Rabun Gap, and Harry Hodgson, of Athens, were received with enthusiasm.

Mrs. J. J. Harris, state editor, on Wednesday afternoon offered a loving cup, called the Coleman-Pringle cup, to the chapter in the state sending the best report on the state of the cup to be awarded at the next convention.

A ride to the Georgia Normal school and a reception there was of interest. A delightful supper at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McDougall completed the afternoon session. Wednesday night was given over to the annual reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Garrett, at which time reports were given on an innovation in the order of business.

Reports were made as follows: Soldiers' Home, Mrs. John A. Perdue; Normal school, Mrs. J. G. Garrett; R. M. McMaster; scrub book, Mrs. P. H. Jeter; war between the states, Mrs. H. H. McKee. A pantomime was

MRS. J. J. HARRIS.

Constitution U. D. C. Editor.

Statesboro, Ga., October 28.—The thirty-second annual convention of the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, which has been in session here since Tuesday, closed tonight. Mrs. J. J. Harris, of Statesboro, state president, presided at the sessions. Among the first acts of the body today was the election of the following officers:

Recording secretary, Mrs. Powell Cotter, Barnesville; treasurer, Mrs. Julia C. Lane, Statesboro; and Mrs. Harry Craig, Augusta. These are all of the officers to be elected at this convention.

A number of resolutions were passed by the convention during the morning. A resolution asking the state to appropriate funds for a Stephens memorial at the site of the old McKenney plantation, was adopted.

Another important resolution was the voting of the convention to return what funds had been collected for the Stone Mountain memorial to the various chapters of the U. D. C. which had contributed the money and that the chapters be allowed to send their contributions to the Stone Mountain association should they so desire.

The convention voted to allow the $1000 fund for the Rabun Gap school to be used for the purchase of a new building for the school.

The creation of Jeff Davis highway was also endorsed.

A decided touch of human interest attached itself to the interesting collection of relics brought to the convention. This relic was exhibited by the late president, Mrs. S. G. Lang, of Sandersville. In the collection was a walking cane made from a piece of a fallen soldier's sword.

The last cabinet meeting of the Confederacy was held in the hall where the last cabinet meeting of the Confederacy was held.

Under the leadership of Robert Toombs delivered his memorable speech on the University of Georgia campus in 1820. A fan whirled by a veteran who was 75 years old at the time was also shown.

Much interest centered in a small bag of sulphur carried for good luck and a tiny pin cushion which was removed from the trousers pocket of Alexander H. Stephens at the time of his death when he was governor of Georgia. He was the first president of the Confederacy during the war between the states.

A feature of the Wednesday afternoon session of the convention was a memorial service conducted by Mrs. John A. Perdue.

Mrs. Perdue, who was in charge of the memorial service, had arranged by members of various chapters that the memorial service be held at the residence of Mrs. John A. Perdue.

A report of Rabun Gap school by Mrs. E. A. Caldwell, of Rabun Gap, and Harry Hodgson, of Athens, were received with enthusiasm.

Mrs. J. J. Harris, state editor, on Wednesday afternoon offered a loving cup, called the Coleman-Pringle cup, to the chapter in the state sending the best report on the state of the cup to be awarded at the next convention.

A ride to the Georgia Normal school and a reception there was of interest. A delightful supper at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McDougall completed the afternoon session. Wednesday night was given over to the annual reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Garrett, at which time reports were given on an innovation in the order of business.

Reports were made as follows: Soldiers' Home, Mrs. John A. Perdue; Normal school, Mrs. J. G. Garrett; R. M. McMaster; scrub book, Mrs. P. H. Jeter; war between the states, Mrs. H. H. McKee. A pantomime was

LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY BOOSTED BY DR. SOULE

Moultrie, Ga., October 25.—(AP)—Immediate and material expansion of the livestock industry in Georgia is urged here today at a meeting of the Georgia Swine Growers' association by Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture.

The meeting was called to arrange a campaign for stimulation of interest in livestock raising.

Pointing out that there already are 30,000 idle, antenanted or abandoned farms in the state, the agriculturist declared that the development of permanent pastures and immediate increase in the area devoted to feed crops is imperative if the number of the proposed reduction in cotton acreage next year.

"Since all classes of livestock can be raised at a profit under the favorable conditions which now obtain in Georgia, there is a direct and definite way out of our present difficulties," President Soule said. "We need especially to emphasize the hog industry because of the need of an abundance of pork products to supply the deficiency created by the serious inroads which hog cholera has made in the mid-western states. The man who has hogs available to feed should lose no time in finishing them off as quickly as possible. He can be quite sure of a good market at remunerative prices."

"We are also fortunate in Georgia in that we have twelve million bushels more corn as well as other desirable supplemental feeds to use in finishing hogs than was available last year. Our farmers, in spite of the low price of cotton, are face to face with a golden opportunity to recoup themselves."

Depreciating the practice of some producers of selling half-grown swine to feeders in Tennessee and other southern sections, Dr. Soule declared, "we are simply making our neighbors rich and prosperous at our own expense and until we learn to finish our hogs at home, we will never make a success of the industry. It is partly due to this fact that so many farmers still are of the opinion that feeding hogs can never be made a profitable business in Georgia. This is a mistake. It is a type of work, which, when properly conducted, can be made to show a profit."

President Soule, telling of experiments conducted in Tift county which had proven that the industry could be made profitable, stressed the necessity of mixing tankage with corn for swine feeding. Corn alone, he said, is deficient in mineral matter and certain

They Pay if Atlanta Fails on Chest

This group at the Atlanta Child's Home has paid heavily this year to make up the difference in what the Community Chest needed for their support and what Atlanta actually gave to the Chest last year. Six hundred volunteer workers during the next three days will strive to get the full Chest budget this year from those who are able to pay. "The rest of Atlanta may give without compulsion and of its own accord; if Atlanta fails, these will give because they have to, and they will give like little Spartans, with a smile as long as a crust is left to divide," said Bayne Gibson, president of the Chest, on Thursday.

dependent for their existence upon annual contributions so that there is no real danger that the fine objects of each may be obscured by the problem of maintenance and the true spirit of benevolence chilled by an endless succession of pressing demands.

"The Community Chest idea makes possible the inclusion of a definite sum for charitable contributions in the family budget and by a concentration of effort focuses the thought of each community at one time on the duty and the privilege which is theirs to aid the deserving and to relieve suffering and misfortune.

With $48,982 added to the previous total of $213,707, making a total to date of $262,690 raised on the Atlanta chest's campaign for the campaign, the 600 workers Thursday afternoon faced the necessity of reporting an average of nearly $130,000 at each of the three succeeding week meetings of the campaign, if the city's relief and service work is to be adequately supported.

Big Gifts Showing.

The special committee, headed by Sherrill Kennedy and working to reach a quota of $70,000 on gifts of $1,000 or more from those best able to share the burdens of the chest, made the smallest report of the four it has made since the campaign opened, announcing a total of $6,200, sending its total for the campaign to $268,890, or 52 per cent of its quota with only three reports yet to be made.

These gifts included $1,200 by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant; $1,000 each by Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, Healey Real Estate and Improvement company, McDonald Stewart company, and Mrs. F. M. Robinson.

The individual subscribers' division, headed by George West, reported $12,500 in 22 gifts of $250 or more and additional gifts in amounts of less than $250 amounting in all to $32,063 for the day, or a total to date of $170,066 or 49 per cent of its $340,000 quota.

Some Large Gifts.

The larger gifts reported by the individual subscribers' division were $750 by Atlanta Constitution; $500 each by Mrs. Samuel W. Inman, Morris Rich, Stone Baking company; $400 each by Ginn and company, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Goodrum, Jr., Parks Chambers and Hardwick company, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stuart Witham, Jr.; $300 each by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan P. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Armstrong, Dr. P. P. Calhoun, Continental Ginn company, Charles A. Davis, Harry L. Davis, Jacob A. Hirsch, Frederick A. Holt, J. J. Kramer, Grocery company, Wilmer L. Moore, Standard Oil company, David H. Strauss; $250 each by John A. Hynds, Hugh M. Willett.

The industrial employee division, headed by Robert Greer, reported additional gifts amounting to $2,025 for the day or a total of $1,857 toward its quota of $15,000 or 32 per cent.

The commercial employee division, headed by Frank Neely, reported additional gifts amounting to $2,116 for the day or a total of $7,116 toward its quota of $15,000 or 47 per cent.

The public employee division, headed by Josiah T. Rose, reported additional gifts amounting to $255 for the day or a total of $4,407 toward its quota of $10,000, or 44 per cent.

The utility employee division, headed by Allison Thornwell, reported additional gifts amounting to $1,574 for the day or a total of $27,179 toward its quota of $35,000, or 79 per cent.

The colored division, headed by William F. Boddie, reported additional gifts amounting to $3,277 for the day, or a total of $4,212 toward its quota of $15,000, or 28 per cent.

Gibson Praises Workers.

Bayne Gibson, president of the chest and campaign chairman, urged the faithful workers in the campaign on to renewed efforts for the final drive for his money which must be put to the campaign across successfully.

"You men who are giving your time, your energy and your money to this campaign are doing one of the most wonderful pieces of civic and human relief work that has ever been done for any city or the distressed thousands of any city," Mr. Gibson told the volunteer workers. "Many people think you are being paid for your work because the average man cannot conceive of another man working as hard as you are working and giving as much as you are giving simply from a sense of duty and an appreciation of a great need, the only forces that are urging you on. Those who will be warm this winter when, except for your sacrifice they would have been cold; those who will be fed this winter when, except for you, they would have gone hungry; they are grateful and in their gratitude you will find your reward; and the most precious reward of all is the knowledge that hundreds of children, who do not even know what you are doing for them, will be safe and happy another year and will never know that, except for you they would have perished."

Team No. 81, headed by Roy LeCraw in Chairman Walter Withington's district again led the individual subscribers' division with 58 per cent of its quota of $45,788.

With quotas of approximately $45,000 each, Horace Russell's district, No. 8, was second with 58 per cent of its quota of $45,000; Boyer district No. 6, third with 50 per cent of quota; James C. Malone, district No. 1, fourth with 47 per cent of quota; Harry Breese, district No. 2, fifth with 45 per cent of quota; Mark C. Pope, Jr., district No. 3, sixth with 42 per cent of quota; Eugene T. Johnson, district No. 5, seventh with 40 per cent of quota, and Henderson

Hallman, district No. 4, last with 38 per cent of quota.

Standing of the individual teams in the day's report was as follows:

NEGRO CONVICT DIES FOLLOWING STRUGGLE

Clyde Calhoun, negro convict of the Sandy Springs convict camp, died Wednesday morning of the right lung was the result of a pistol wound received in a tussel with a Fulton county convict guard from whom Calhoun is said to have tried to take a pistol. An inquest was held over the negro's body Thursday afternoon at the chapel of David T. Howard & Sons, negro undertakers, the verdict of the coroner's jury being that he came to his death from a hemorrhage of the right lung caused by a pistol wound inflicted during the scuffle. It was reported that the shot was actually fired by the negro himself.
